INTRODUCTION

About 440 frightened sophomores attended assembly at Woodlawn on September 6, 1960, and became the first class ever to register at this school. On that morning, the day of graduation seemed far, far away. But alas! Three years have passed and these students are now ready to leave our school. This class, which will be graduated on May 23, 1963, will go down in history as the first graduating class to have attended Woodlawn for all three years of high school.

Since the Class of 1963 has this distinction, we have chosen to honor the graduates by building the theme of the yearbook around them and the phrase "We Will Remember."

Though the ACCOLADE contains a record of all the classes and their accomplishments during this year, it has a special meaning to the seniors. Receiving this yearbook emphasizes that they are leaving behind them memories of three years filled with excitement and trials from helping to organize a brand new school. Some of them are charter members of the Student Council that named our school mascot and selected our school colors. Others helped to organize the various clubs and start them functioning smoothly.

Since they have definitely played a part in helping to create the Woodlawn Spirit, in helping to build our traditions and reputation, and have helped to bring recognition to our school in such a short period of time, we think that it is appropriate to honor them in this way.

As you turn the pages, consider the class representatives shown at various places throughout the book as your guides, and enjoy with them the memories that we have shared this year at Woodlawn High School.

Beauty means a lot to a school, and our columns not only add beauty but interest to Woodlawn. Many conversations may be heard if one stands long enough around these columns, which are by now a favorite meeting place.

Each candidate spends a great deal of time preparing for campaign speeches. Susan Hartsfield gives her speech for the office of senior class secretary.

Mr. White presents a portrait of himself to the school which is accepted by Cynthia Arnold, Student Council President.

ABOVE: Due to the enlargement of the NDCC, two classrooms are nearing completion; one is to be occupied by a math class. BELOW: Tom McClurg led the Pledge of Allegiance on Flag Day.

Columns Add Beauty to Woodlawn Campus

Pouring from busses and cars of all descriptions, and plodding on foot, around 1600 students arrive at Woodlawn each morning to spend about seven hours in school. Here we are given the opportunity to select the classes and activities which will best help us to develop our mental ability and work toward a goal of becoming a responsible productive American citizen. The joy of our days here will linger long, and we will always remember our school. Come along with us, for you—yes, all of you are a part of this story.

Extra Events Add Pep and Life to School

While at school, we have shared many moods and moments. We have different personalities, but we have worked and played together. We yelled at pep rallies and cheered for all our athletic teams; we enjoyed the moments of seeing friends return at homecoming; we raced across the courtyard loaded with books; yet we took time out for fun. Together, we have made Woodlawn High School.

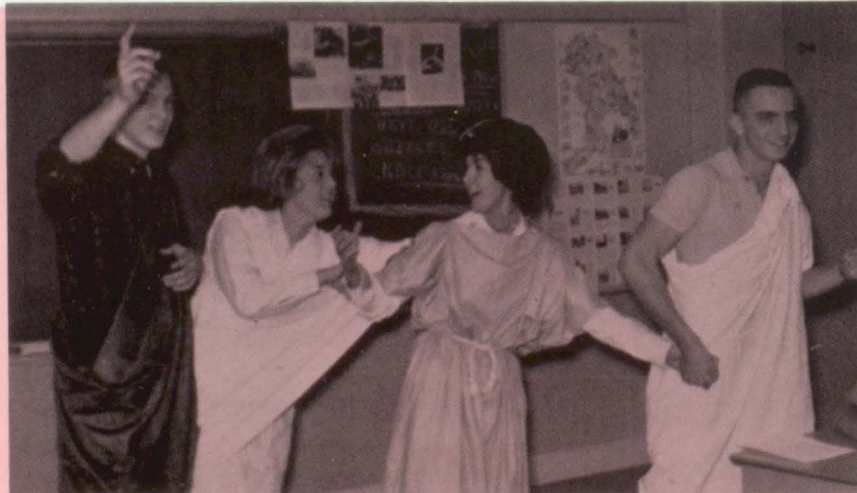

The rain didn't dampen the spirits of any of the Woodlawn spectators during the football game against North Caddo.

The school spirit never dwindled as the Lancerettes and cheerleaders led the student body at the pep rallies.

In the second-year Latin class, students wrote stories about myths. Mike Johnson, Vickie Harris, Anne Gray, and Warren Gould present theirs to the class.

Dorothy Johnson, with a load of books, typifies the average high school student as she scurries across the courtyard.

Band hats stand as a row of silent guards on the bleachers waiting for band members to get ready for a half-time appearance.

The Woodlawn Choir presented a medley of Christmas songs at an Assembly sponsored by the Student Council.

Taking time out between classes to have fun, the girls stuff Jennifer Marrs in a trash can in the gym.

Chatting in the halls and at the lockers before school is a favorite time of the day for many students at Woodlawn.

Typical School Life Has Varied Activities

School affords time for many things—chats in the hall, modeling clothes made in class, expressing creativity through painting, and quiet study in the library. We also find time to be thoughtful and kind to others.

The Football Program Ad Staff and Sponsors had a party for two children at Christmas. Anita Robison and Judy Bridges help them open the gifts.

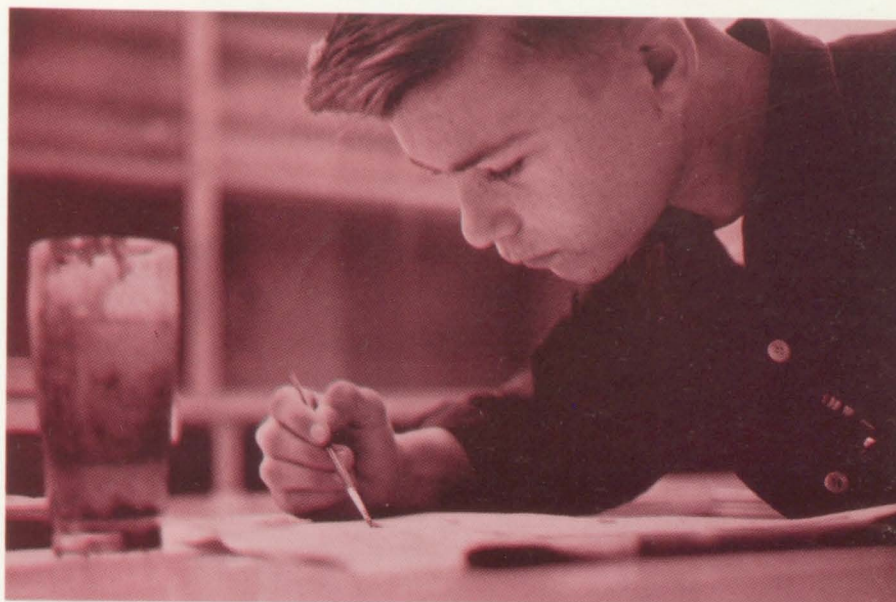

LEFT: Snow is a rare sight in Shreveport, but Judy Smart, Bertha Black, and Pat Grob enjoyed it while it lasted. RIGHT: Jimmy Hammack, Diane Sprawls, and Stanley Foster enjoy the buffet at the Reception held for all officers and sponsors. Woodlawn was host for this event at Barksdale.

The rush between classes will never be over for one period has no sooner begun than the bell rings for it to end and the mad chase is on all over again.

Glen Tollett, a very talented art student, paints a picture of an outdoor scene using water colors. This is one of the various things taught in art class.

Students find the library a quiet place to study, before and after school. The library has a staff of 60 student workers and contains over 10,000 books.

After completing garments made in their Home Ec Class, the girls model them for their mothers. Janie Hooper shows a suit that she made.

Randy Walker displays his report card after receiving it from Mrs. Adams, his first period teacher. Reports are distributed at the end of every six weeks.

Each day 15 school busses come to Woodlawn bringing approximately 700 students to and from school.

Spring Activities Leave Fond Memories

As the years pass, this ACCOLADE will mean more than ever to us for it reveals the things we wish to remember—the faces of our friends, the date of an important convention, the score of a special game.

We'll remember the club meetings, the bus rides home from school, the NDCC parades and the Knights' Ball. We will not soon forget the excitement of ordering invitations and measuring for class rings. However, the crowning achievement—graduation—is the memory that will linger longest.

Through the year, we have lived all of these events and have loved the privilege of calling Woodlawn our home. All these things happened to make 1963 a year to remember.

Cal Baker, treasurer of the Student Council, gives the treasurer's report to the Council members at one of the meetings.

Those who attended the Knights' Ball enjoyed dancing to the music of Margaret Lewis and Her Guys. This dance is one of the main events of the school year.

GRADUATION . . . the time has come, the seniors think, when all their work and dreams have been fulfilled. But they realize later that actually life is only beginning.

Alton McKnight
SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT

Among the teachers at Woodlawn, we have found sympathetic friends who will listen to us and absorb themselves with our problems. They have been patient to explain again and again anything that we did not readily understand. They have exhibited a sense of humor, enthusiasm, character and a deep love for their work and their students. And we discovered that teachers are not confined to classrooms. We learned by experience that they can be an interesting conversationalist while serving as a class sponsor, dance chaperone or a field-trip guide.

Teachers putting their hearts and minds into their work, give encouragement and inspiration as they stand daily before us—their pupils. It is their task to set our standards and objectives. It is their unending duty to guide the destiny of those who sit in their classrooms. We will remember our teachers, for they have done these things and more.

Many of us come and go. A few of us mark ourselves as outstanding. There are those of us who are above average in leadership, scholarship, or service. All of us have the desire to maintain high standards and strengthen character, but a few of us are busy accomplishing something extra to benefit Woodlawn. Because we render service to our school, we become known for our deeds. We will long remember our friends who have earned these places of honor for scholarship and in addition those who are elected to positions of honor because of leadership and service.

The Accolade Court was presented at the beginning of the annual Ball.

King Tommy Wynn awards the accolade of knighthood to Tommy Linder, Mickey Joiner, and Larry Stephens. These seniors were named as knights because they have shown valor, honor and loyalty.

ACCOLADE PAGEANT Has Courtyard Setting

Peacock blues and greens decorated the castle courtyard used as a setting for the third annual Accolade Pageant. Two large peacocks, a castle painted on the backdrop, and a painted stone wall added to the courtyard atmosphere. Participants dressed in peacock blue satin enhanced this magnificent scene, and blue lights added a soft glow.

After the presentation of each couple and the King and Queen, the three senior boys in the court were knighted for their contributions to Woodlawn. Three couples in the court then waltzed for their majesties. This was followed by entertainment furnished by ten students.

Climaxing the celebration was the Knights' Ball which furnished "Moments to Remember."

The first dance at the Knights' Ball, held at the American Legion Club-house, was for members of the court.

Tommy Wynn and Janie Hooper, seniors, reigned as King and Queen of the Accolade Pageant held on February 22, 1963. Tommy and Janie attained this honor by receiving the highest number of votes cast by members of the senior class.

Three Senior Boys Receive Accolade

The senior class was represented in the pageant by Lady Betty Jo Cook and Knight Tommy Linder, Lady Anne Gray and Knight Mickey Joiner, Lady Charlotte Lynch and Knight Larry Stephens.

Couples at the ball enjoyed dancing to the music of Margaret Lewis and Her Guys.

Juniors participating in the Accolade Court were Lady in-waiting Jan Reaves and Squire Charlie Andrews, Lady in-waiting Sarah Grunwald and Squire Dennis Newbury, and Lady in-waiting Jennifer Marrs and Squire Johnny Piazza.

Sharon Allen Reigns at Homecoming Game

"Hello there! What are you doing now?" could have been heard many times as alumni greeted each other with hugs and shrieks of delight at the homecoming game. This event, which provides the only opportunity for some people to see former school friends, is held annually.

The queen and her attendants are elected by the entire student body. This year Sharon Allen had the honor of reigning as queen.

Escorts, graduates of the year before, are chosen from the students who had been active and outstanding during their years in school. They represent, as nearly as possible, students who have participated in each phase of activity on the campus. Leadership in clubs, sports, music, or the military is considered in selecting them.

When such an event runs so smoothly, it means that thorough planning has been done. Several teachers were responsible for the success of this occasion. Miss Blackburn and students in her art classes designed and made the castle used as decoration. Mrs. Barr arranged for decorating the sideline float from which the court viewed the second half of the game. Serving as wardrobe advisor for the court members was the duty of Mrs. King. Co-ordination of the entire program was done by Mrs. Houghes and Miss Nickels.

QUEEN Sharon Allen, escorted by Wayne Davis, was presented during the halftime program at the Mansfield game.

After being presented individually on the field, the queen and her entire court was presented as a group at the sideline.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY Is Composed of 30

An invitation to join this group is received only by those who qualify in character, leadership, service, and scholarship. By maintaining the high standards set by the society, the organization serves to stimulate and reward scholarship in secondary schools.

No special projects are planned or carried out by this group of thirty. However, they do have meetings and programs for occasions such as Christmas and Easter. A banquet is held annually in the spring. Members serve as ushers at some special school assemblies, and they also usher at Baccalaureate and at Graduation, carrying diplomas from the stage to the graduates on the main floor of the auditorium.

PELICAN STATE Delegates Number Twelve

Pelican State, held annually during August, is intended to educate youth in the duties, privileges, rights, and responsibilities of American citizenship. It is a plan for training students in the mechanics of government. Participants not only review what knowledge they already have of the state's political machinery, but they themselves perform exactly the duties as real office holders in the everyday world. For one week, the citizens of this mythical Pelican State organize their own city, parish, and state governments. They choose their own officials with regular election procedures. They introduce and argue bills in a legislature. Thus each young citizen learns for himself that his government is just what he makes it.

Delegates between the ages of 15 and 19, having completed the eleventh grade, are chosen from names submitted by the faculty.

LEADERSHIP Training Taken in Summer

The Leadership Conference held at LSU each summer is designed to develop leadership in group activities. Outstanding boys and girls, having completed their junior year and upon recommendation of their advisor, are eligible for selection. Students go to the LSU campus and train for a week and return to high school in the fall to apply, in a practical way, their conference experience.

Four areas of interest are available for study. Journalism has two divisions—one for publishing a high school newspaper and one for editing a high school yearbook. Newspaper students actually publish a conference newspaper. Glen Gordon served as editor of that paper last summer. Library classes for student assistants include study and practices in processing and circulating library materials, making book repairs, and organizing library clubs. Speech includes interpretation, radio and discussion. Students even produce and participate in one-act plays. Training is also offered in Recreation but no Woodlawn student registered in that division.

From the Gulf of Mexico to Washington, D. C., Cynthia Arnold has held high Woodlawn's banners, speaking, leading discussion groups and talking informally of Woodlawn and its students. She has accepted honors for the school, a state gavel, a portrait of a dedicated leader and booster, praises, compliments, suggestions and friendly criticisms. In her role as Student Council President, Cynthia has led discussion groups at Woodlawn, in junior high workshops, at city, state, and southern association meetings. She led Woodlawn to the state presidency of the Louisiana Association of Student Councils. Cynthia, a National Honor Society member, finds time to participate actively in her 4-H Club projects and the high school Red Cross. She is also the nominee of the Greenwood Garden Club for the Outstanding Youth Award given by the Federated Women's Clubs.

Sandra Kay Butler, senior, has been awarded the DAR Good Citizen certificate for Woodlawn for the current year because she has displayed dependability, leadership, service and patriotism during her school years. Sandra also made the highest score on a test submitted to the school by the Pelican Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She, along with winners from other schools, was honored at a luncheon at the East Ridge Country Club on February 13 and received an insignia pen and certificate.

Leaders Get Recognition and Certificates

Cynthia Arnold and Glen Gordon received the Pat-Em-On-The-Back Award at the Optimist Club's Youth Appreciation Banquet in November. They were selected, along with two outstanding seniors from each of the other local high schools, on the basis of leadership qualities and participation in school activities.

Yvonne Racine, State Treasurer of the Junior Classical League, was elected over two or three opponents at the State Convention held in Lafayette. As treasurer, she is in charge of all money handled by the state organization. She signs all checks, reconciles the bank statements, and does all the bookkeeping. Her books are audited at the end of the year. She gave the annual treasurer's report at the State Convention held at Byrd High School, March 1-2. Yvonne also served as chairman of the finance workshop at that convention.

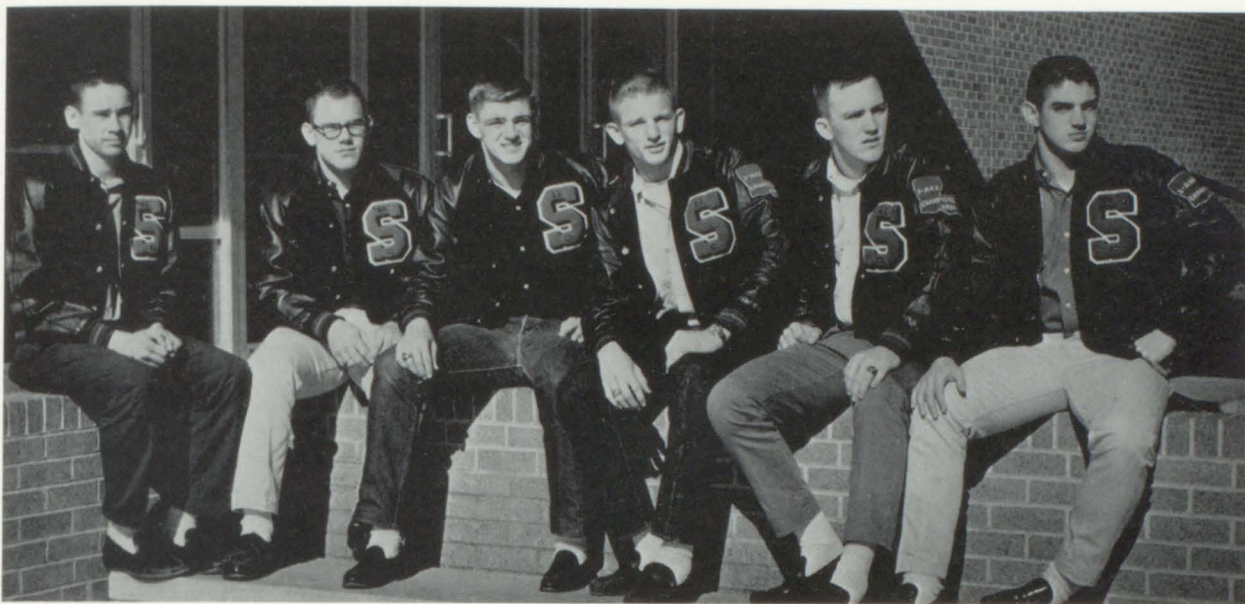

Three Woodlawn Knights have received football scholarships from Louisiana Tech. They are halfback Paul Clark, fullback Tommy Linder, and end Larry Stephens. All three players starred for Woodlawn during the past season. Clark, All City, is a tremendous blocker and has been called one of Shreveport's best linebackers in recent years. Linder, Shreveport's Player of the Year, made All City, All District, and All American this season. Stephens, excelling in defense, also was named to the All City and All District teams.

Students Win Honors in Various Fields

Traffic signs to help ease hall congestion are posted by Johnette Dowden, Safety Council secretary, and Sue Blankenship, club president. Johnette is a member of the State Committee on Youth Safety and helps to evaluate results of state meetings. Sue is the State Vice President in charge of Traffic Safety for Youth Safety Councils of Louisiana.

These football players, displaying jackets they have earned, were declared outstanding as a result of their efforts on the playing field. Jon Stephenson, halfback, won All-City honors in football, All District in baseball, and also made All-City basketball team. Paul Cark, halfback, made the All-City team. Tackle Jerry Formby won a berth on the All-City team. Larry Stephens, end, rated All City and All District. Larry also went to the State Track Finals. Edwards Walker racked up spots on the All-City team and All-District second team. Four titles were captured by fullback Tommy Linder. He was named as All City, All-District, All-State second team, and All American.

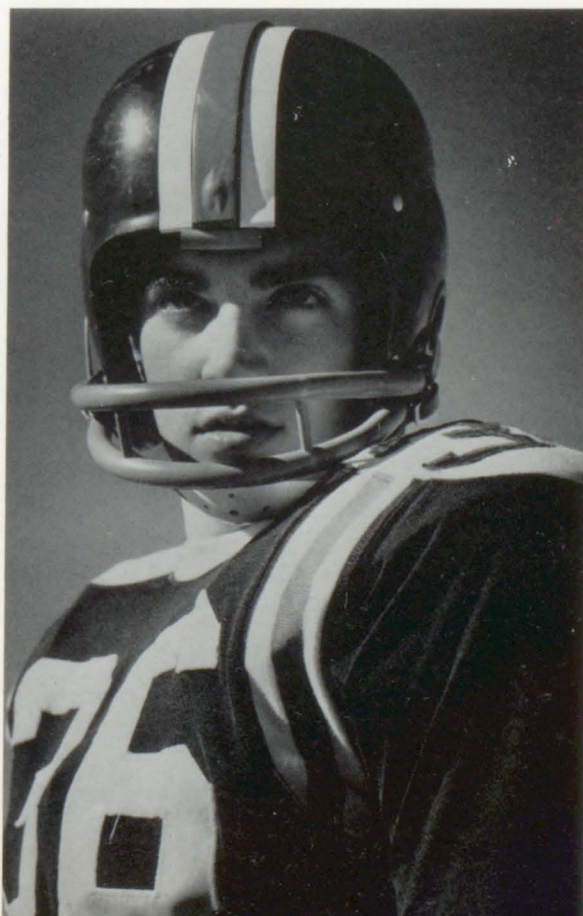

Players Awarded Titles of Distinction

Tommy Linder came to Woodlawn from Midway Junior High in 1960, the first year in the history of our school. Although he was only 5' 7" tall, he weighed 160 pounds and possessed the mental attitude and determination to become a fine high school football player. During his first season Tommy was an outstanding runner, averaging four yards each carry.

In 1961 Woodlawn was fortunate enough to win the District 1-AAA championship with a 9-2 record. Tommy was honored on the All-District team. His outstanding running, determined blocking for his teammates, and his fine defensive work had a great deal to do with the team's success.

Tommy closed out his brilliant career in 1962 gaining 944 yards on 170 carries for a fine 5.6 yard average. He scored 80 points as the team finished second in district play and won nine games and lost two. He was honored as a high school All American, made the All-State second team, All-District, and All-City teams.

Yes, Tommy Linder will be remembered by many as the fullback who started thirty-two straight football games for Woodlawn, gained 1,967 yards on 422 carries, and scored 156 points during his three years of competition. But, beyond his accomplishments and many honors, there are many who are just as proud of and will always remember Tommy's contributions in the building of football teams at Woodlawn—his competitive spirit, quiet yet determined leadership, 100% effort, courtesy, pride, and sacrifice—the marks of a champion.

Two band members, Stan Horton and Myrna Parnell, won places in the All State Band. As a result of auditions, held all over Louisiana, approximately 85 outstanding band students were chosen to comprise a group called the All State Band. These students met in Baton Rouge in November for a period of several days. There they rehearsed for a performance which they gave for the Louisiana State Teachers' Convention in New Orleans.

Five Local Students Declared Members of ALL STATE Groups

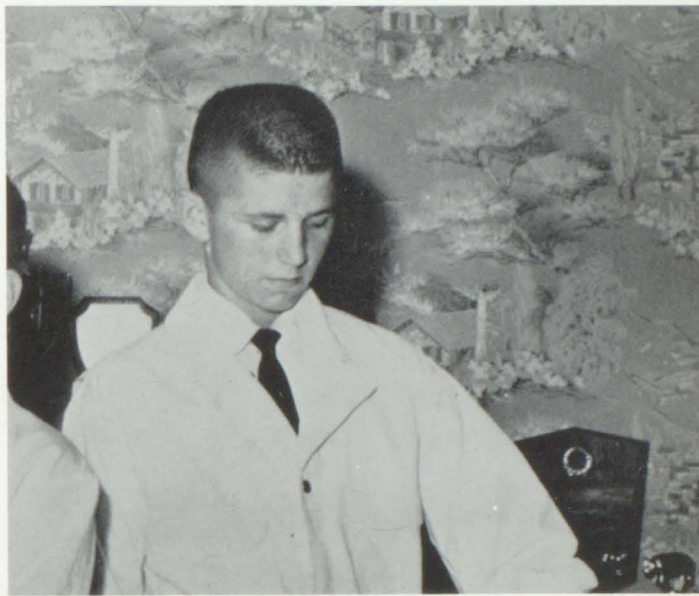

This year Woodlawn had its first participants in the All State Choir. After auditions by district representatives, Kathy Robbins, alto; Marie Wilkerson, first soprano; and Patti Arnold, second soprano; were selected as members of this group. Eleven from Woodlawn were auditioned. Caddo Parish had a few additional members from the other local high schools. These students from all over the state met in November at LSU to attend a three-day workshop, after which they gave a concert for one session of the La. Teachers' Convention.

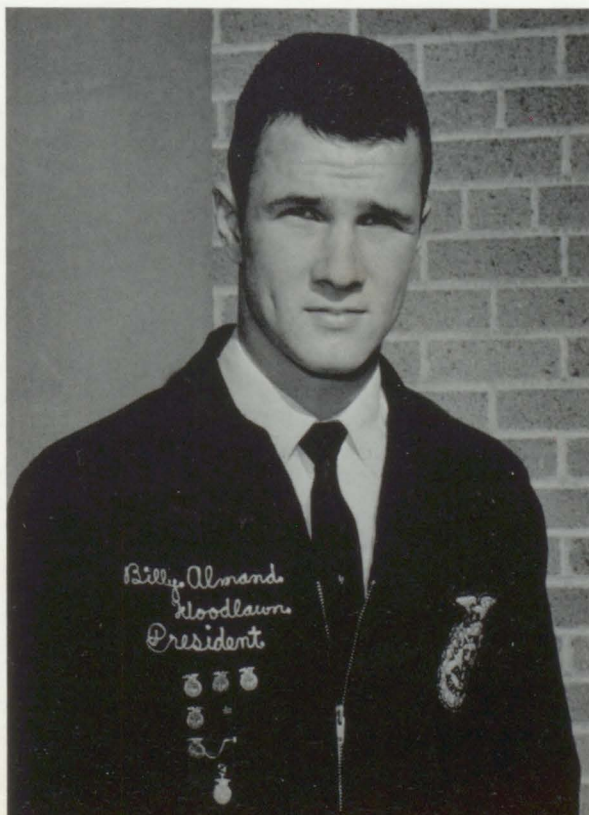

KING and QUEEN—Rosy Williams and Jack Harper were selected as Caddo Parish Queen and King at the annual 4-H Achievement Day held at Woodlawn last spring. This award goes to the girl and boy with the best record books in the parish. Books are judged by state 4-H officials. This accomplishment is more noteworthy because Rosy was a sophomore and Jack only a freshman. Rosy is currently serving as president of the parish clubs and Jack is vice president.

Five years of work in his electricity project have been rewarding to Jack Harper, a sophomore 4-H club member. In this project, Jack studies and applies knowledge learned about electrical appliances. His records placed 1st in Louisiana and were declared 3rd runner-up in international competition. This was quite an achievement as Jack was competing with college students.

FFA and 4-H Members Reap Rewards

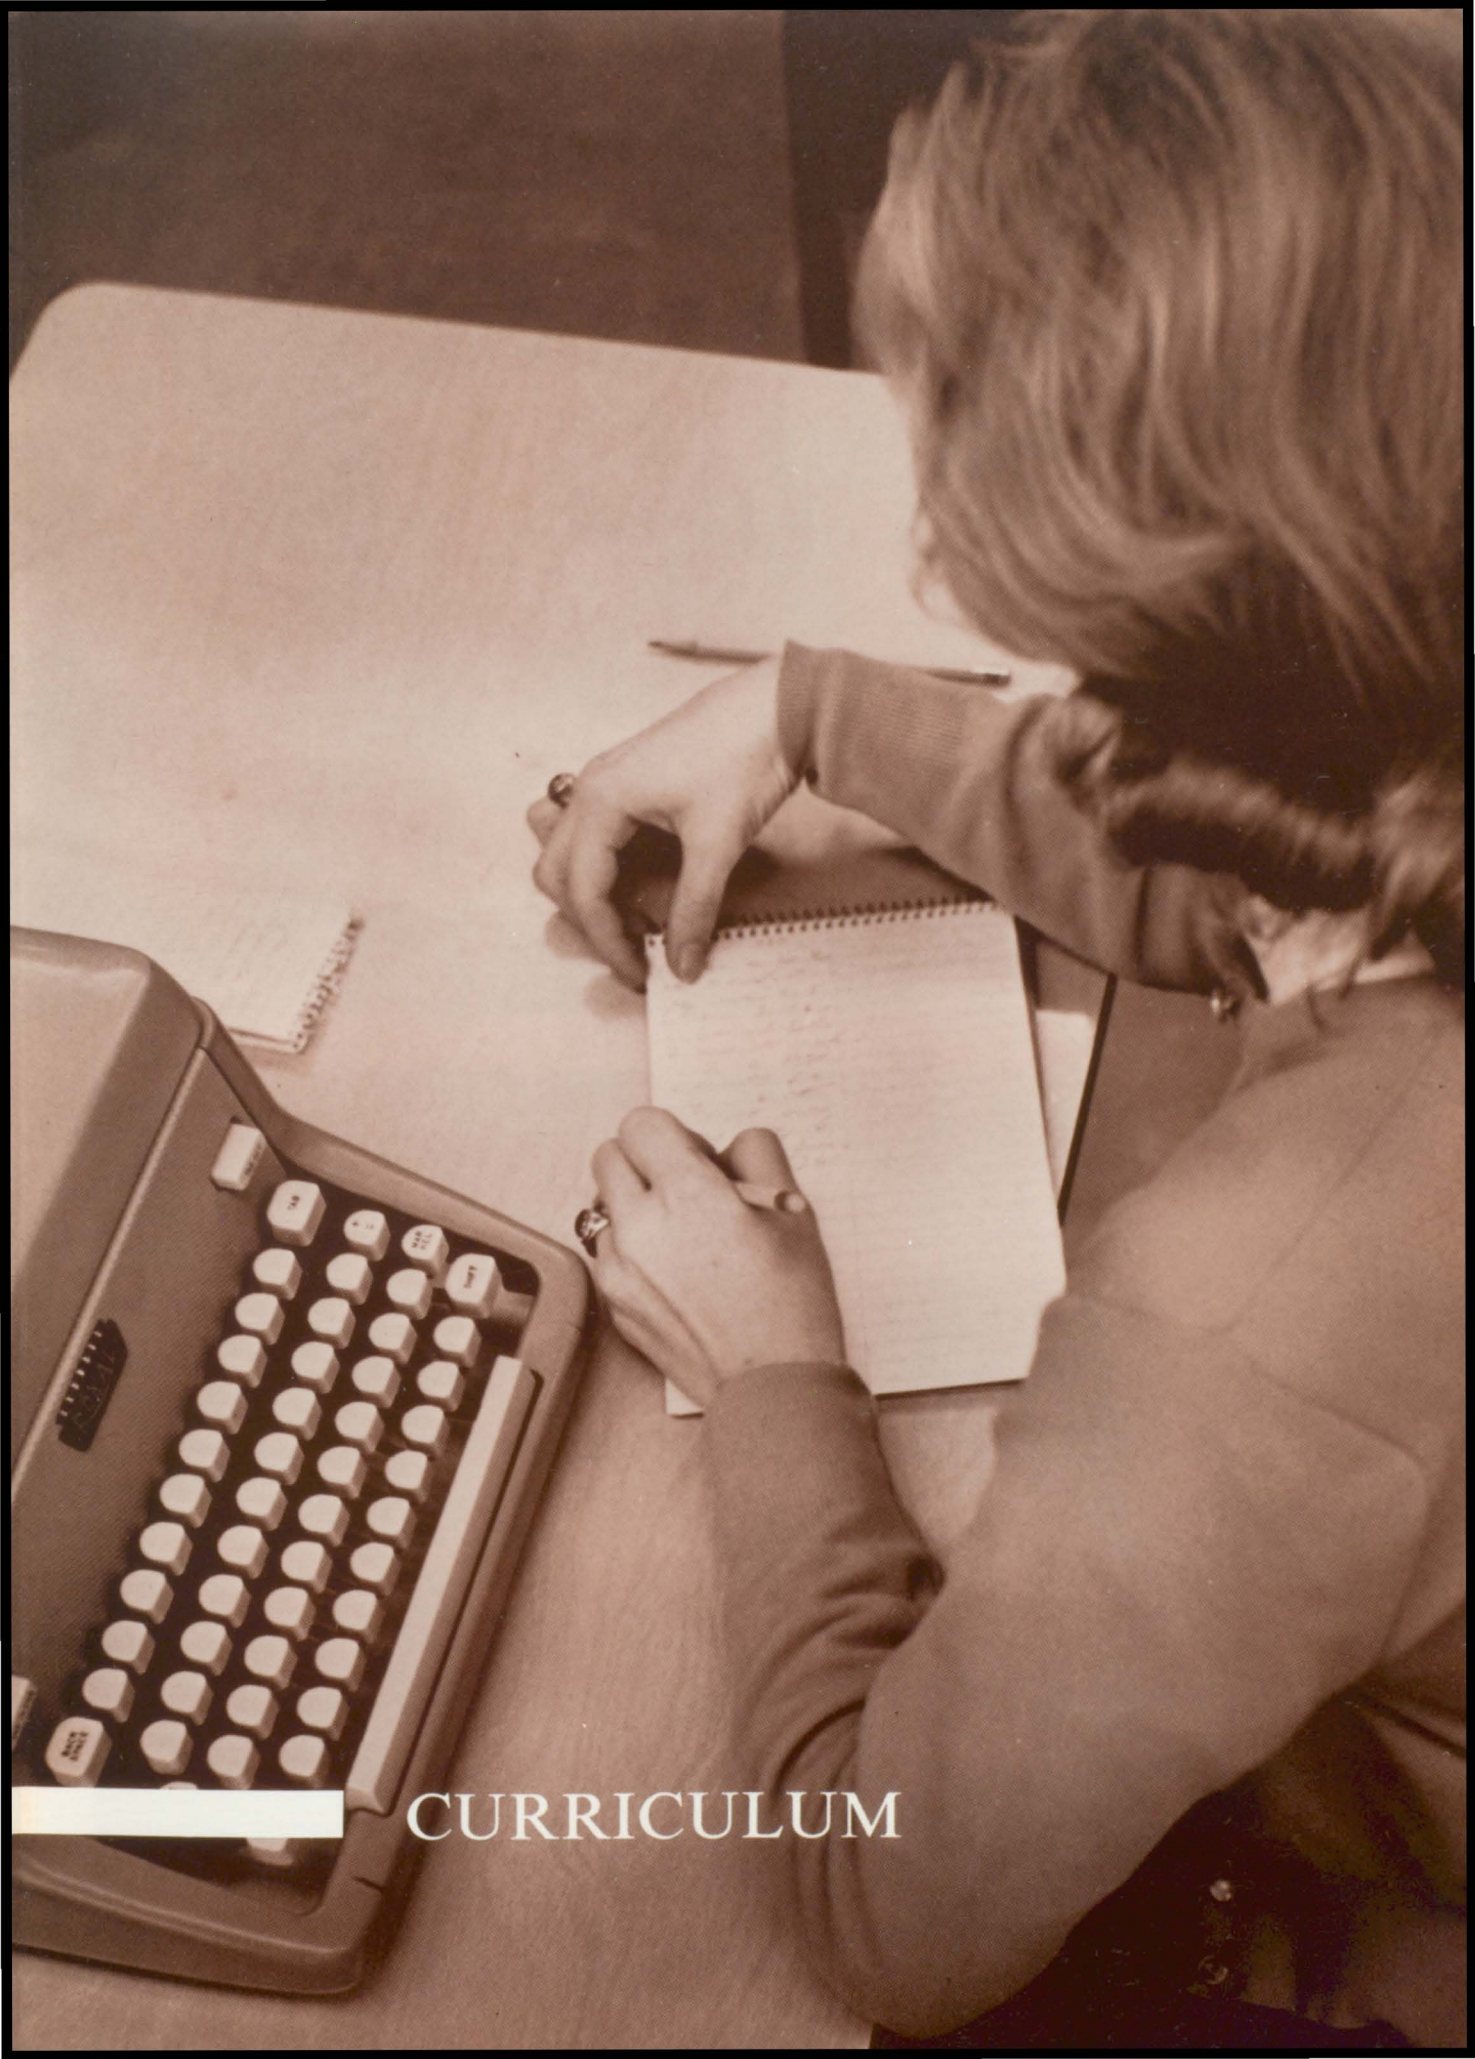

Billy Almand, FFA President, has received the degree of State Farmer. This degree goes to about 3% of the state FFA membership each year. To be considered, one must have an investment of at least $500 or have earned and invested $3000 in a supervised farming program while in high school. After a written application is filed, a written test on agriculture is taken. A boy must also take all agricultural subjects that he has opportunity to take. Billy has already sold his cattle and plans to use his money for college.

In our school, as in all others, we spend most of our time sitting in classrooms. Sometimes the days are long, and the end of the school year seems far away. Yet each passing day gradually becomes history and our days left to spend in algebra, English, chorus, and chemistry draw to a close. We will remember the study questions we answered, the themes we wrote, the books we reported on, the square roots we learned, and the sentences we diagrammed. With the learning of these things, we were constantly reminded that this is a place of education. What we learned in the classrooms of this school will long help us in solving problems, in earning a living, and in contributing to society.

CURRICULUM

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT Has 13 Teachers

Basic English courses, Speech, Journalism, and Business English, compose the curriculum of the Woodlawn English Department.

The four years of English are designed to teach reading, writing, speaking, and listening in the forms of literature and grammar, while Business English is to help the commerce major and may be substituted for English IV. Speech courses include public speaking and dramatics, and journalism students are concerned with writing and publishing a newspaper.

There are two rapid learner English classes. These are English II taught by Mrs. Houghes and English III instructed by Miss Holmes. The rapid learners are a group of students on approximately the same learning level. They do not do advanced work, but because they can keep up with each other, they are able to go deeper into a subject.

There are thirteen English instructors at Woodlawn who enjoy student participation in class through projects and discussion.

Four English credits are required for graduation and each basic English course must be passed in succession.

Tommy Page works to master the art of public speaking in Speech I. A course in dramatics is taught in Speech II.

Sharon Self prepares to ask a question in Mrs. Olson's English III class, which is concerned with the study of poetry.

Lou Popejoy assists Anne Gray as she explains a chart on medieval warriors to her senior English class. A study of the Middle Ages is taught by Miss Wigley and Mrs. Adams.

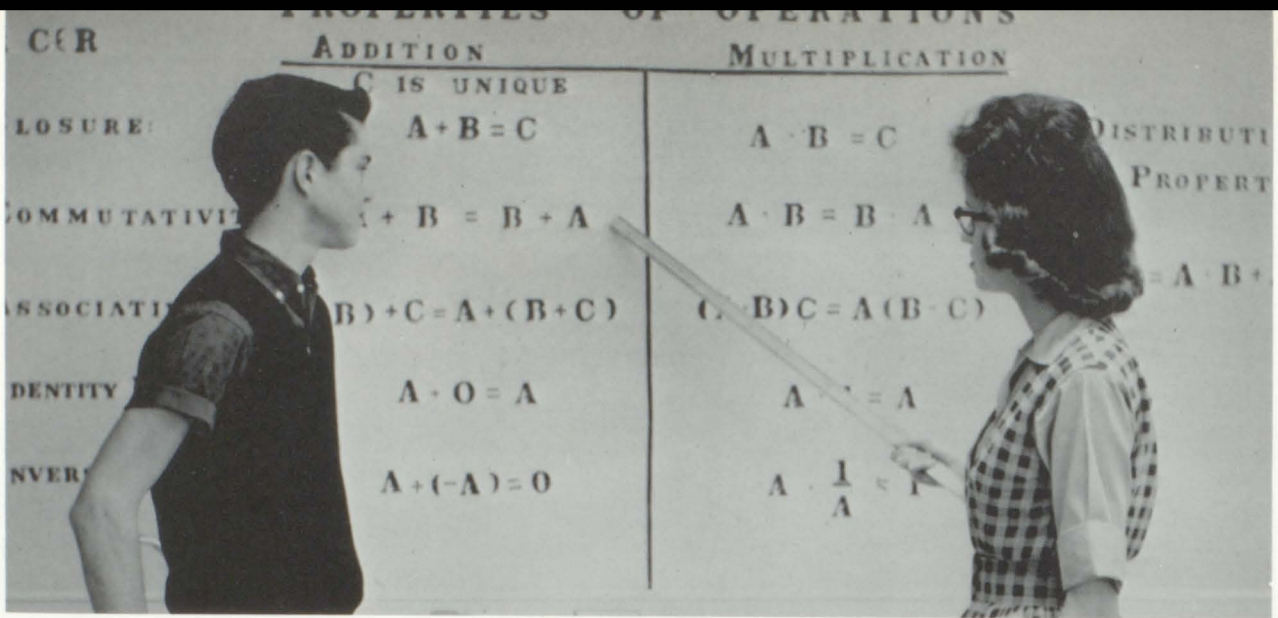

Miss Holmes, rapid learner English teacher, points out an interesting article to Gary Corley in a study of newspapers.

Mrs. Houghes, a sophomore English teacher, explains the origin of words to her students for a possible test.

After a year's apprenticeship as reporters, journalism students, Pallie Tucker, Ruthanne Parr, Judy Burson, Barbara Prough, and Mary Kaffka, qualify for positions on the Herald Staff.

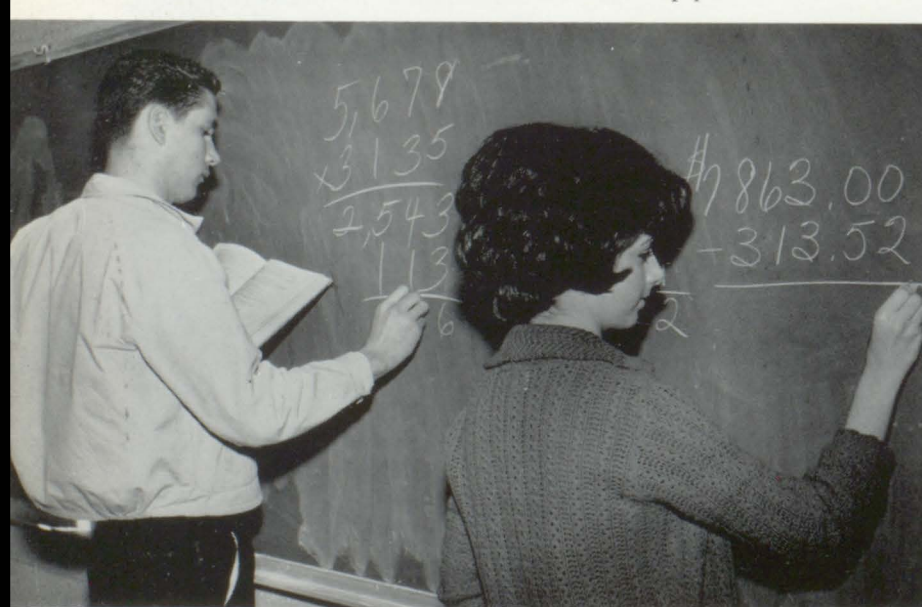

The properties of the real number system are the subject of a discussion between David Rimmer and Bonita Montgomery in Algebra II.

Six MATH Credits Offered, Two Required

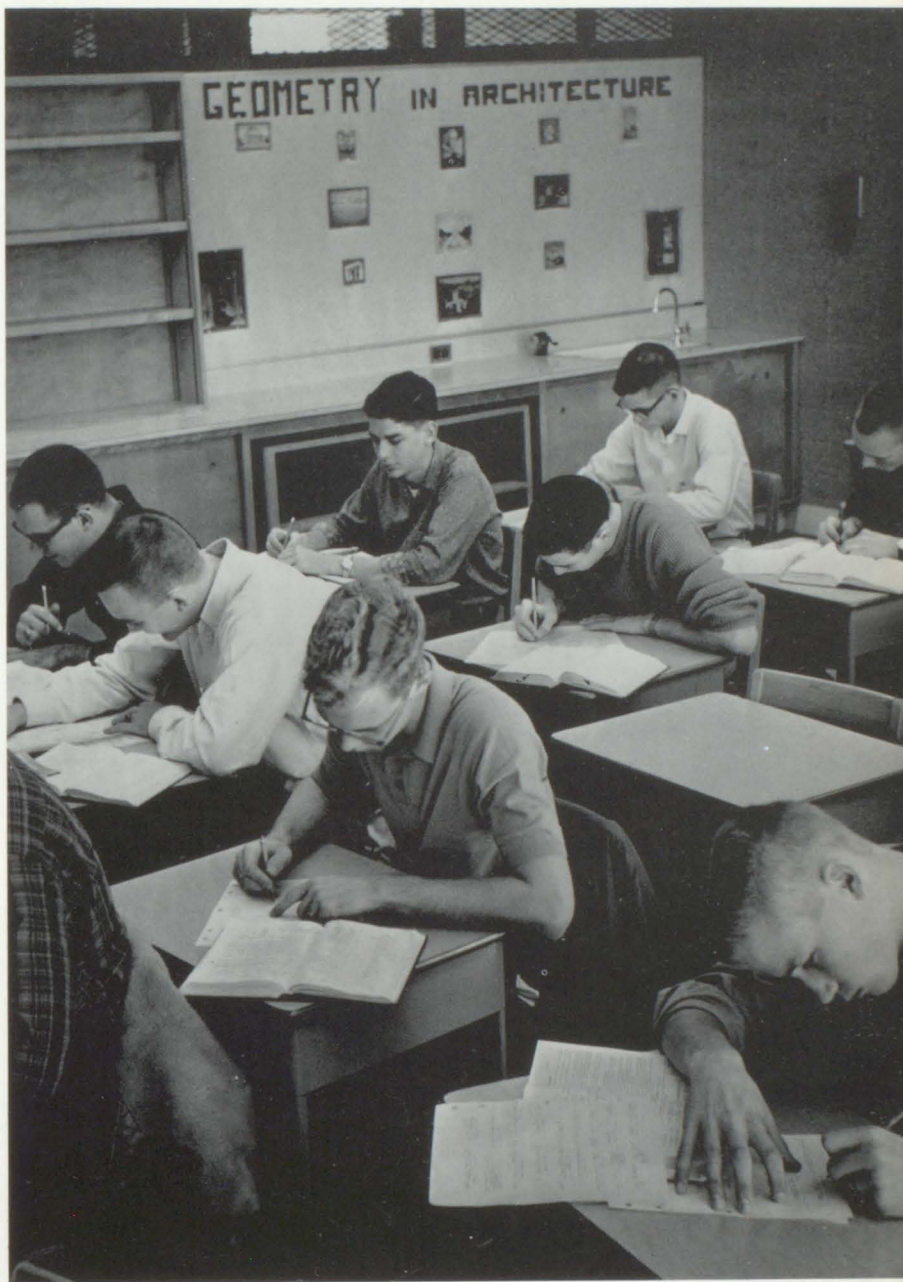

Available to the Woodlawn students are six mathematics courses of which only two are required for graduation. The six courses offered include General Math and Business Arithmetic, which are taken most often for their practical value by those not planning to attend college. Also in the curriculum are Algebra I and Plane Geometry which are taken before Algebra II, though Geometry is not a prerequisite. Algebra II teaches the basic fundamentals of factoring and systems of equations. It also gives a background for higher math. Rapid learner classes in Algebra II and Geometry are offered to students with good averages, a good over-all school record, and a keen interest in math. The material in these classes is the same, only more detailed. Advanced math offers a course in solid and analytical geometry for students who have a good previous average in math and are interested in science.

Working with cash discounts in Business Arithmetic, Glen Ogburn and Pat Wilkes find it easier to do math on the board than on paper.

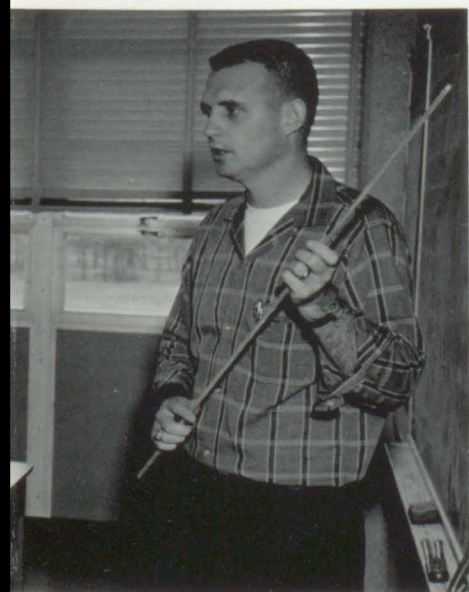

Mr. Boydston, working at the board, explains to his Algebra I class the difference in two perfect squares and then gives a breakdown of the factors.

Advanced mathematics offers a good background for students planning to make math a college major. The course, which is taught only by Mr. Gerald Furr, is a combination of Solid Geometry, Plane Trigonometry, Analytical Geometry, and Calculus.

Mr. Furr, one of three Geometry teachers, points out the steps and reasons for proving the congruency of two triangles to his rapid learner class.

Dennis Blackmon, junior chemistry student, seems to enjoy bending glass. Chemistry is one of three lab sciences offered.

Andra Wilson conducts a chemistry experiment on the process of destructive distillation. The procedure is to produce carbon dioxide and grind coal into it.

Two Units in SCIENCE Are Required

Of the four science courses offered, at least two must be chosen, as two units in science are required for graduation.

A total of eleven general science classes are taught daily by Miss Kyser, Mrs. Hicks, and Miss Maranto. General science is a basic course in all the physical sciences including light, sound, water, air pressure, and electricity. The course also touches upon biological sciences and chemistry.

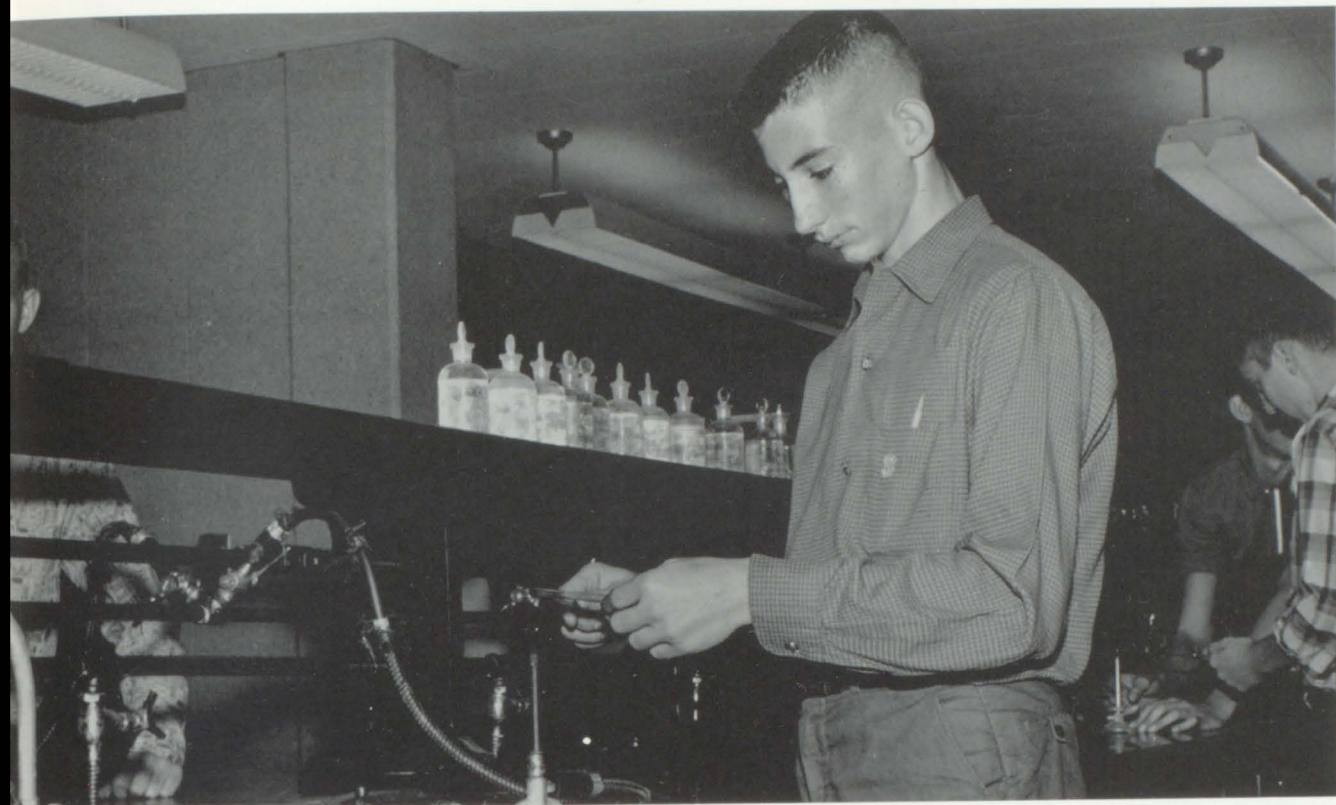

Biology and chemistry, the two lab sciences usually taken by college-bound students are taught by Mrs. Aiken, Mr. Davis, Mr. Hollingsworth, Mr. Dunn, Mr. Herren, and Mr. Fullilove, who teaches the accelerated biology class.

The most advanced science course, physics, is the study of how the forces of nature act and how we are able to control these forces. This course is taught exclusively by Mr. Hollingsworth.

Marvin Dinkins, Fabe Moseley, and Sherry Jones look at specimens of the glass snake and other reptiles in biology.

Members of Miss Maranto's general science class study the formation of land and sea breezes, and how wind is made.

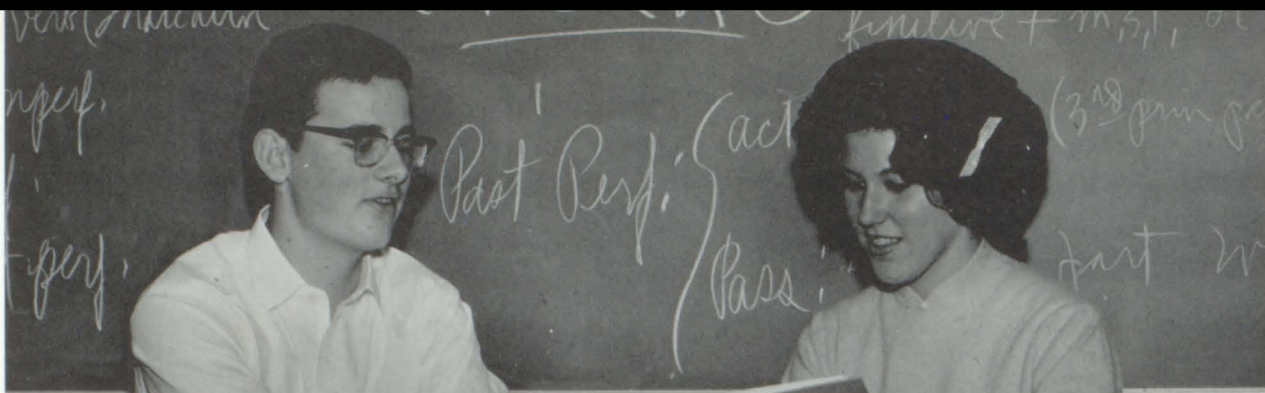

Hooke's law, the law of elasticity, is the object of experiment by Mr. Hollingsworth and four physics students.

Microscopic algae is the subject for this biology investigation being made by Beverly Sapp and Judy Matheson.

Lou Popejoy and Sandra Patterson, two of the three students taking Latin III, discuss some new material shown in their book.

"Adeste Fidelis" was heard in the halls before Christmas as the Latin classes put their Latin to use by caroling.

La Femme Muette, a 15th century comedy, was given by the members of the French II class for the students in French I.

LANGUAGE Classes Have Combined Fiesta

Woodlawn offers complete courses in French, Spanish, and Latin. Students learn the fundamentals of the language in each first year course, along with the customs and dress of the people.

The highlight of a year of Latin is the Latin Club Convention offering contests in costume, oratorical, translation, and other fields. The convention is climaxed with a toga hop.

Spanish classes listen to Spanish records of singing and speaking. Some days they use only Spanish for class discussions as a means of increasing their vocabulary.

Puppet shows and plays are used by the French classes as a learning device. Corresponding with French pen pals also provides an interesting way to use the language.

A big event of the year for all these language classes was the "Interlingua Noel Fiesta," a big Christmas dance.

Writing verb forms is required in the Spanish course, so Johnny Pegues and Teddy Linn use the board for that purpose.

Sherry Lacobee and Jack Hemphill display some current government events on the bulletin board in civics class.

In American History, one of the two required social studies, Judith Register goes over her notes for a research paper.

SOCIAL STUDIES Include Current Events

Of the five subjects offered by the Woodlawn Social Studies Department, Civics and American History are the two required for graduation. The other three available courses are general history, world history, and world geography.

The courses offer a study of periods of history, ranging from prehistoric times to the present day. Civics is a basic course in American government and economics. American history, which may be scheduled in junior and senior years only, is a study of our country from the time Columbus discovered America to our present day situations.

Becky Gullledge points out a special place of interest in American History to Keith Annison, as the class looks on.

Jack Evans and Gary Mitchell show their classmates in General History a country that is constantly making news.

Bookkeeping students spend long hours adding columns of figures in order to balance their books. Saundra DeVille learns that the use of an adding machine makes this task easier.

Office Practice affords an opportunity to use electric typewriters extensively. By actual practice, Vicki Miceli learns a simplified letter style recommended by the National Office Management Association.

Filing is one skill taught in Office Practice. Ronnie Row, one of the two boys enrolled in this course, works on a project involving subject filing.

Six BUSINESS SUBJECTS Offered to Students

Business subjects are not required for graduation and many students enroll in them, especially typing, for personal use only. However, should a student pursue all the courses offered and do creditable work, he would be prepared to take many office jobs with no further training. Six subjects, Typing, Shorthand I, Shorthand II, Clerical Office Practice, Business English, and Book-keeping, make up the business curriculum.

Six teachers are employed in this department where there are 442 typing students alone.

Variety in these courses should maintain a student's interest. For example, Clerical Office Practice, taken by advanced students, teaches many phases of business. One learns to use electric typewriters, duplicating machines, calculators, and the dictaphone. He studies filing procedures, the proper use of the telephone, and the composition of business letters. He gets practice in typing complicated business reports and in making travel reservations.

Having taken the business courses offered, a student should have a basic understanding of business procedures.

Pat Toups, a typist with a high degree of accuracy, demonstrates how she keeps her fingers curved and her wrists low.

A test on subject and verb agreement in Business English requires concentration by Carolyn Tubbs and Glenda Shipley.

Robert Simmons, Mitchell Mitton, Charles Burson, and Delwin Glasner display Tiki heads they carved from tree stumps. Turn to page 247, officer picture, to see the original blocks of wood from which they started.

Variety of SUBJECTS Offers Training in Various Fields of Interest.

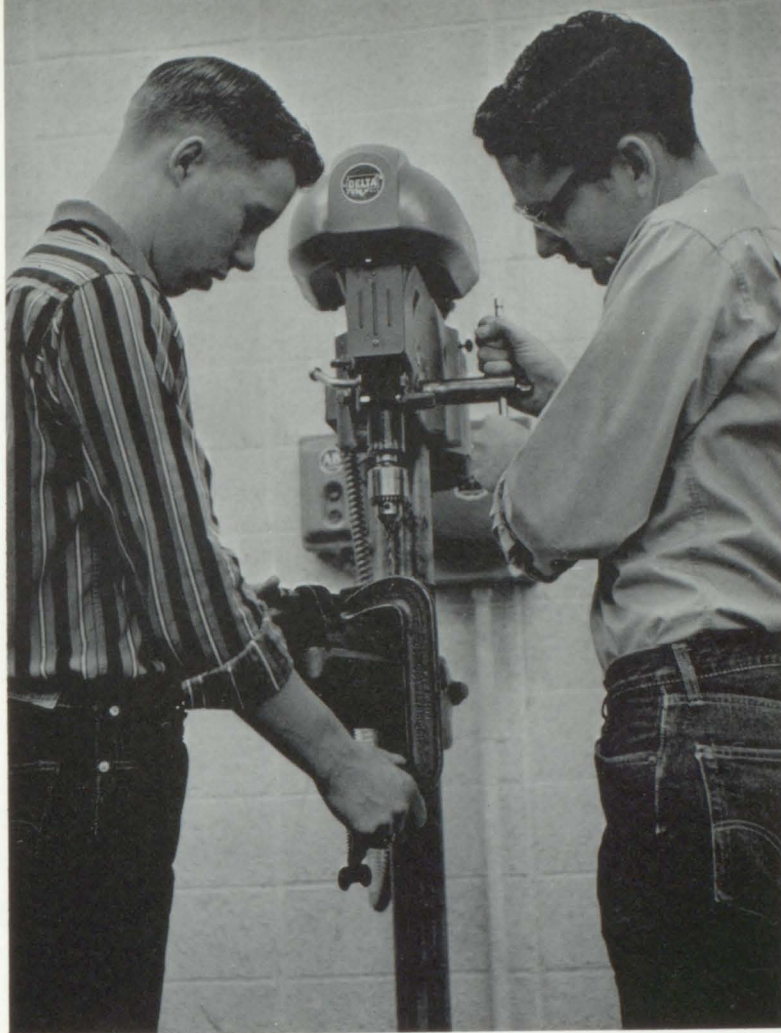

Woodlawn offers classes in various fields of study. A student may find, in addition to required subjects, courses of interest for his own choosing. One can enroll in Art and find satisfaction of self-expression in creating, or he can work in the DE program and get on-the-job training, or he can take one of the shop courses and learn to use the available machinery.

Chris Wade, working as an on-the-job trainee in the DE program, measures the foot of a Woodlawn student, Mary Ann Morrow, as she prepares to sell her some shoes.

Ernie Knight and Jack Ravenna clean type after a printing job in Graphic Arts.

Learning to work with machinery in General metals class Roy Stutts and Billy Lee drill a hole in a hammer head.

James Tew sets type in preparation for printing in Graphic Arts.

James Sandefur, Gary Mitchell, and Charles Cobbs show their meat boards as Dennis Lovell exhibits the type of material that was used to make them in Woodwork I.

Diane Sprawls and Jerrienne Barker learn to prepare meals and to set the table properly in their Home Economics class.

Curriculum Offers Many Elective Subjects

Several of the seventeen units required to graduate are elective. They are offered to anyone who wishes to take them. The purpose of these classes is to let students choose subjects that they are really interested in. Producing skills that are put into practice in later life is the main objective of the Home Economics Dept. The choir adds much to Woodlawn with special music assembly programs and concerts. The library has circulating books and references, and also has periodicals used mainly for research. Through books and actual driving experience, students who take Drivers' Education learn to drive the correct way. Students come from study halls, and thus it becomes an extra class, but no credit is received. Students who have completed the course are well-qualified to apply for a state license. The purpose of the health class is to teach students about the physical and mental well-being of the body. Students who take health are exempt from physical education by a doctor's certificate.

Choir members watch attentively as director, Melvin Simmons, prepares them for one of the three concerts given this year.

In Home and Family Living Yvonne Young and Elwin Rhodes explain a chart on dating as Glen Saunders and Pat Goodner look on.

Students who take Drivers' Education, learn to drive by actual driving experience and through books. Coach Adcox gives instructions to Rita Beaudry as she drives.

John Stoffel, Jerry Parks, Craig Giddens and Byron Jeter study for a mid-term health test.

The modern library Woodlawn has offers many good facilities; the circulating of books and magazines and the privilege of using the reference books.

Linda,
 How can I write to you. I don't know where to begin. We've been such good friends since our sophomore year. I'll always treasure our friendship so highly.

You've always been able to help me out of my problems and be a great friend in happy times.

Linda, please don't let our friendship end with graduation. I'm sure it won't because it goes much deeper than that.

Linda, please come see me sometimes. And don't ever forget me.

Linda, I can only wish you the best in life and the most happiness possible. I know you'll be happy because you really deserve it. God bless you.

Stay just as you are now, o.k.?
 never forget the Band
 the "talk"
 call the times we as friends.

Recalling high school days will bring bright moments in future years. We will remember the first day that Woodlawn opened when we entered as sophomores, frightened, curious and eager. We came from several different schools meeting as strangers, but now that years have passed we have made those strangers our friends. We have close friends in all three classes. There are the ones we sat next to in algebra, the one with whom we shared a locker, and the ones we chatted with during the lunch hour as we sat around the flagpole. Our school days draw to a close, but it will not be easy to forget the rush in the hall between classes, or the dash across the quadrangle to beat the tardy bell.

Love ya,

Seniors Make Plans to Enter College

As graduation approaches, seniors begin to think of selecting a college to attend. Massachusetts Institute of Technology sent a representative, Mr. John Blair, to our school last fall to discuss, with interested students, the courses offered there.

The rains came during the North Caddo game making everything sloppy and messy. Many spectators viewed the game while peeping out from under their umbrellas, yet all our cheerleaders were in the midst of it. Their hair got dampened, but their spirit didn't. During the game, they introduced the North Caddo cheerleaders to the Woodlawn cheering section.

Junior Maids Elated Over Winning

The Lancer Drill Team performed at various times during the football season as part of the half-time program. Several juniors are members of this group.

As they prepare to call home and tell mama about their election as homecoming maids, Sheila Mondello and Barbara Norrid express their disbelief to each other that they were chosen.

Absorbed juniors participate in the voluntary PSAT tests given on October 16, 1962.

Ken Arnston did the art work for those huge posters used in the hall of the main building during football season. He puts the finishing touches to the one he used before the Byrd game.

Acting Ability Revealed by Squires

That look of exhaustion on the face of Henry Hungerbeeler was necessary to accurately portray an injured chariot racer in a Latin skit.

We will remember the spirit of competition in all sports. How can we ever forget that our young Knights lost every game in their first year of football, yet they emerged from the second season as district champions. In this, our third year, we lost only two games and placed second in the district. Basketball, baseball, track, and tennis each in turn has brought cheers, thrills, memories, and champions.

In addition to the competitive side of sports, we will remember the days spent in physical education classes when we were developing our bodies physically and learning lessons of good sportsmanship.

Upon leaving we will remember the outstanding Woodlawn Spirit generated and led by our cheerleaders and Lancerettes. Our athletes carried our colors into battle, but these were found cheering from the sidelines urging them to give their best when the going was rough.

The Knights came out of the 1962 season ranking second in the district. During the season they added many firsts for the Sherwood Park team. They grabbed their first victory over Jesuit, and they added up a total of 45 points in one game. The Knights' defensive team gave up a record low in points and yards to opposing teams, and the charging offense racked up a record in score and yards gained.

Game results were very good in spite of numerous injuries. Three of the varsity men, Jay Gould, Lane Saffel, and Freddy Stuck received knee injuries which required surgery. Other injuries included a broken arm to quarterback Trey Prather and a back injury to Bruce McMellon.

The Sherwood Park scrappers played most of their games on foreign soil during their third year of play but never lost a game away from home. The team showed determination to win by losing only 2 games—one on a 2 point safety received by the North Caddo Rebels on a bad snap. The other game was lost by 10 points to our arch rival Byrd.

Knights End Season With a 9-2 Record

Coaches Williams and Hedges study offensive formation as the Knights line up on the ball during the game with Bossier.

Woodlawn 6 North Caddo 8

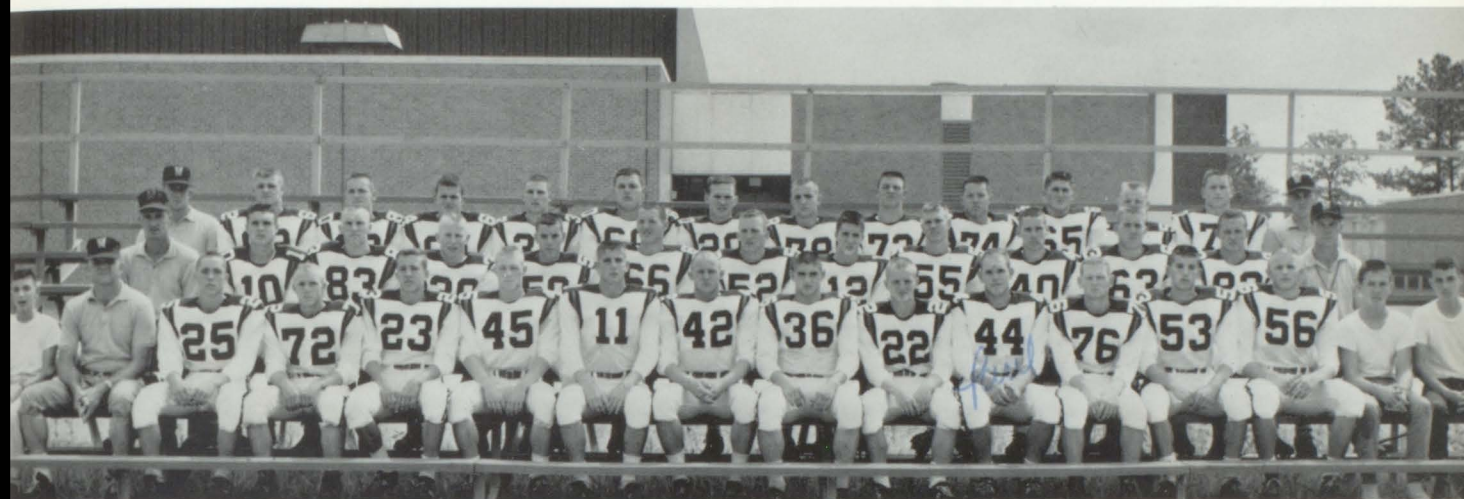

A rain-soaked field and the lack of game experience spelled defeat for the Knights in their opening game. Woodlawn drew first blood by scoring the first time they got their hands on the ball. Tommy Linder capped a thirty-six yard drive with a one-yard plunge. Jay Gould's run for the extra point was no good. A blocked punt that rolled out of the end zone put North Caddo on the scoreboard. A 6-2 halftime lead did not prove to be enough as the Rebels recovered a Knight fumble on the first play of the second half. This set up the final score. The terrific running of fullback Linder was the bright spot in the Knight offense.

Senior quarterback Joe Geter picks up valuable yardage around end in the Bossier game which the Knights won 14-7.

Tommy Linder, 175 pound fullback, eludes Fair Park tacklers for a 12 yard gain as Woodlawn routed Fair Park 26-0.

Knights Run by First Two District Foes

Woodlawn 26 Fair Park 0

The Knights, out to win their first AAA game of the season, met the Indians on a sultry Friday night. Quarterback Trey Prather, taking over in the second quarter, guided the Knights to their first TD. After halfback Jay Gould powered over the stripes in the second quarter, the Knights couldn't be stopped. This was to be Gould's only score of the season as he received a knee injury during the game. Later, Prather, Linder, and Burnett each scored to shut out Fair Park 26-0.

Woodlawn 20 Bastrop 6

Recovering from a shaky start, the Knights left the field at halftime with Bastrop leading 6-0, but when Woodlawn returned the scoreboard began to "light up" for the Sherwood Park team. Playing with increased alertness, the Knights recovered a bobbled Ram punt reception and three plays later Edwards Walker grabbed a five-yard pass from Joe Geter for our first score. After two more scores, one by Linder and another by Walker, the Knights dehorned the Rams 20-6.

Coaches Calvert and Hedges show concern as they watch the offensive team in action against the North Caddo Rebels.

Woodlawn 7 Springhill 0

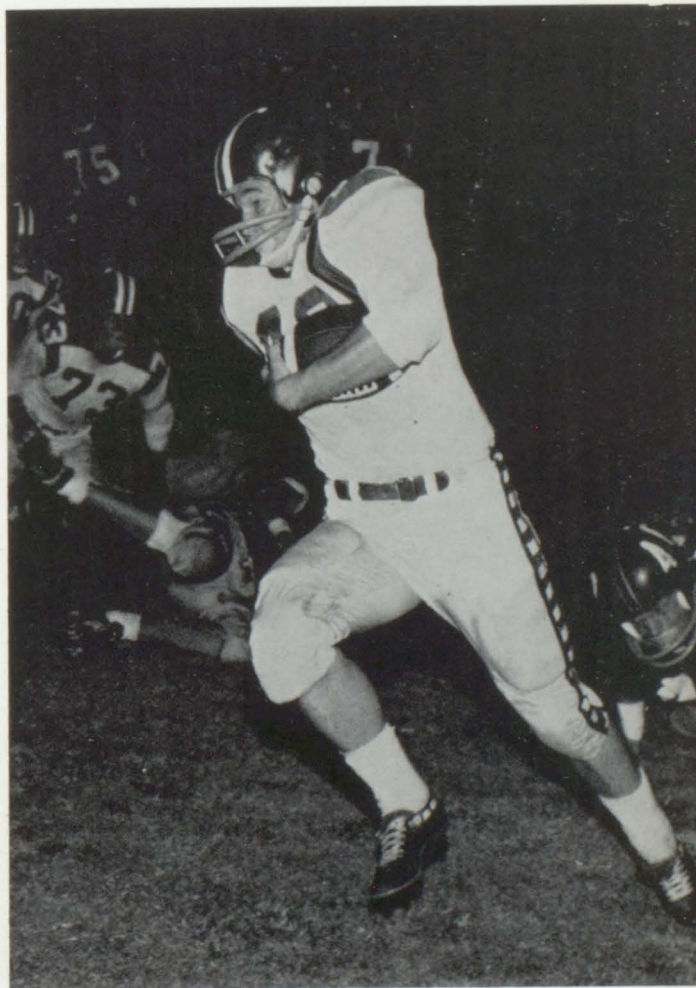

Woodlawn stepped past Springhill with a 7-0 victory to knock the Lumberjacks from the ranks of the unbeaten. Woodlawn's defense stood out to clench the fourth straight triumph for the Knights. Quarterback Joe Geter began a 49-yard drive which was climaxed by a two-yard lunge by Tommy Linder. Mickey Joiner split the uprights to add a point to the TD. After this point in the second quarter, there was no additional score for either of the clashing teams. The second half was a see-saw contest with the ball changing hands nine times. The Knights drove deep into the Axmen's territory in the fourth quarter but were stopped by an intercepted pass.

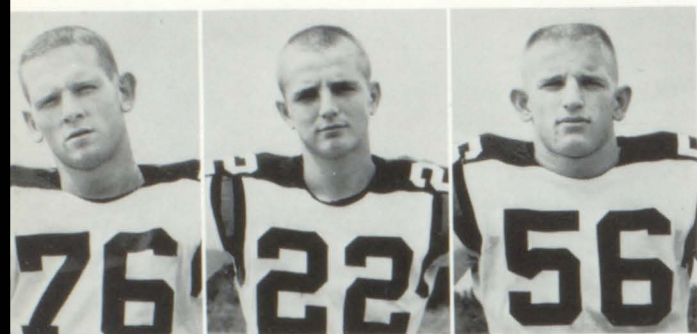

Halfback Lane Saffel is off to the races on a 34 yard scoring sprint to open the West Monroe game.

Woodlawn 20 Ouachita 6

Woodlawn moved to its third straight district win with a 20-6 trouncing of Ouachita. Tommy Linder paced the Knights with his finest performance of the season. He raced for 156 yards on 16 carries. Halfback Lane Saffel opened the scoring with 17-yard run in the first period.

In the third period Linder broke away for a 59-yard touchdown. Mickey Joiner booted the extra point. The final score came when end Larry Stephens intercepted a pass deep in Lion territory and ran it all the way back. The Knight defense held Ouachita to 59 yards total yardage. Defensive standouts were end Don Ebarb, tackle Jerry Formby, and linebacker Paul Clark.

Woodlawn Succumbs to One District Foe

Woodlawn 26 West Monroe 0

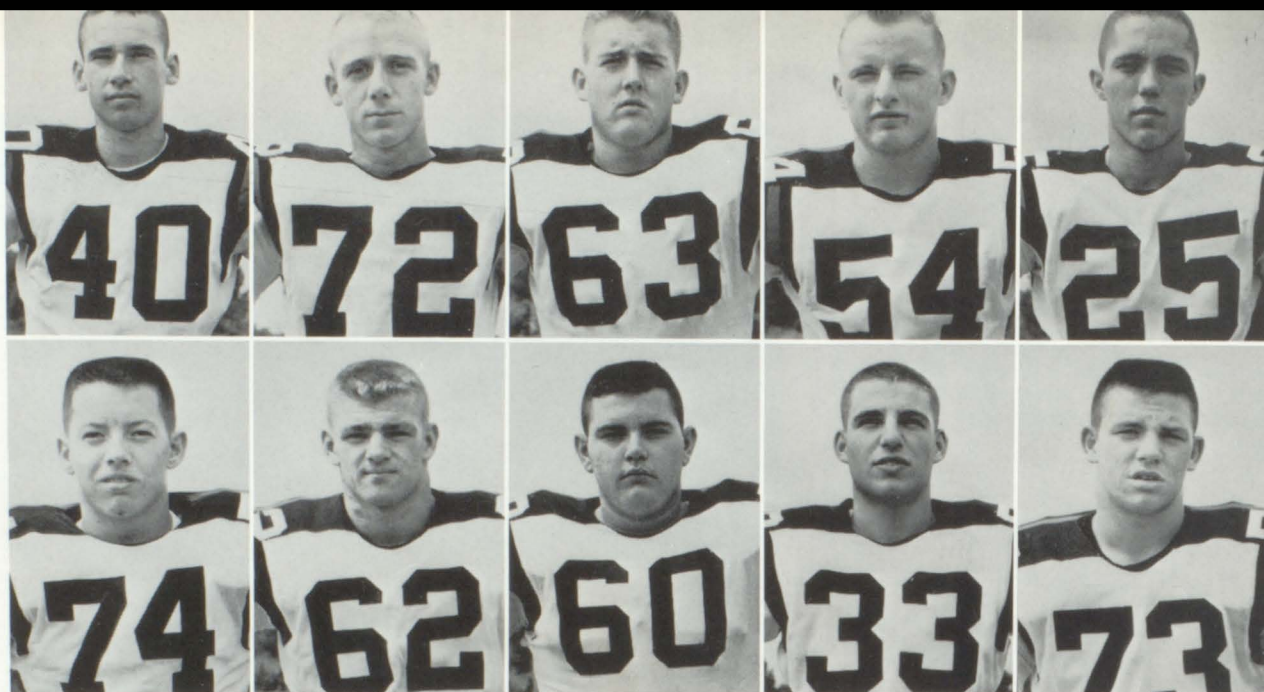

Woodlawn's amazing Knights surged to their fifth straight win by pinning a 26-0 upset on the West Monroe Rebels. On the second play from scrimmage speedy halfback Lane Saffel shook loose for a 39-yard touchdown. The remainder of the first and the second periods turned into a defensive battle which produced no scoring.

Sophomore quarterback Trey Prather took charge in the third quarter directing scoring drives of 70 and 37 yards. The Knight back fired touchdown passes of 23 and 12 yards to end Edwards Walker. The final score came on a 21-yard pass from Joe Geter to Walker. Tommy Linder led all rushers with 82 yards on 18 carries. A fine defensive team led by Jon Stephenson held the heavily favored Rebels scoreless.

Woodlawn 0 Byrd 10

Eighteen thousand fans gathered at State Fair Stadium to watch the North Louisiana Triple-A "Game of the Year" between the Woodlawn Knights and the Byrd Yellow Jackets. It was to be a long, hard-fought, tension-packed event.

Throughout the game, the Knights seemed to fall short of first downs only by inches, and that hindered them greatly. Although the Jackets managed to struggle through for first downs, they were held scoreless until the fourth quarter. On the third play of that fourth quarter, Byrd completed a field goal from the 40 to set the score at 3-0. As tension mounted, the Jackets skirted left end for the lone TD of the game dealing Woodlawn its only district loss of the season, 10-0.

Woodlawn 32 Mansfield 12

Woodlawn's Homecoming was topped with a 32-12 victory over the Mansfield gridders. The high scoring duel provided a pair of firsts—the first time a team had scored two touchdowns on Woodlawn this season and the first time in five seasons anyone had scored as many as 32 points on the Wolverines. Tommy Linder racked up four touchdowns and 141 yards to bring his season totals thus far to 66 points and 678 yards rushing.

Woodlawn 45 Jesuit 0

The Knights of Woodlawn clinched their first victory over the Flyers of Jesuit with a dazzling score of 45-0. This shadowed a previous high score of 39 points against Homer in 1961. Two TD's each were notched up for Tommy Linder, Joe Geter, and Johnny Piazza with Danny Butler grabbing an interception in the last 30 seconds of play to finish off the scoring for the Medievals from Sherwood Park.

Knights Set Scoring Record in Jesuit Game

Jay Gould skirts end for valuable yardage in the Fair Park game before receiving a knee injury that sidelined him for the majority of the season.

Woodlawn 26 Minden 12

In Minden's stadium, viewed by their homecoming fans, the Knights broke Minden's six game winning streak. Utilizing the hard running of Tommy Linder and the passing of Joe Geter, Woodlawn pushed over for three touchdowns in the first two periods. The scores came on one yard scoring runs by Linder and Geter along with a 15-yard TD pass to Paul Clark. A scoring toss on the last play of the half accounted for the Tide's only score in the first half. Linder scored once more on a short plunge in the fourth quarter. A fine defensive team held Minden to 80 yards rushing, 61 of these coming on a scoring play.

Woodlawn 14 Bossier 7

Three-year lettermen Joe Geter, Paul Clark, and Tommy Linder came through with clutch performances in their final game to lead Woodlawn to a 14-7 victory over the Bossier Bearkats. Geter passed for 65 yards and two touchdowns, Clark had 77 total yardage, and Linder once again led all rushers with 95 yards.

After spotting the Bearkats six points on a miscue in the defense, the Knights scored on an 8-yard pass from Geter to Larry Stephens. In the third quarter Clark took a pass from Geter and ran 22 yards for the final score. Again the defensive team stood out, holding Bossier to its lowest rushing yardage in four years.

Defensive halfback Jon Stephenson returns an intercepted pass in the West Monroe game to stop a scoring opportunity.

BASKETBALL Has "Never-Say-Die" Spirit

The Knights' hardwood squad faced a tough 1962-63 schedule with spirit and determination. Considering all the facts, the Sherwood Park cagers had a fairly good season winning 10 games out of 27 played. Sophomore Trey Prather and Ken Liberto both strengthened the team with their fine playing. The only junior letterman on the team was Dennis Newbury, who turned in an impressive season. Among the senior ranks were three lettermen, Jon Stephenson, Edwards Walker, and Roy Martinez, who were the heart of the team.

There were only two major injuries during the season, suffered by Roy Martinez and Jon Pat Stephenson. Jon Pat, turning in an excellent season record despite his injury, was the only member to be named to the All-City basketball team.

Another member of this close-knit group who deserves recognition, as he works where the limelight is dim, is the hard-working, likeable manager, Nico Van Thyn.

Senior forward Edwards Walker jumps high for two points against arch-rival Byrd.

State Meet

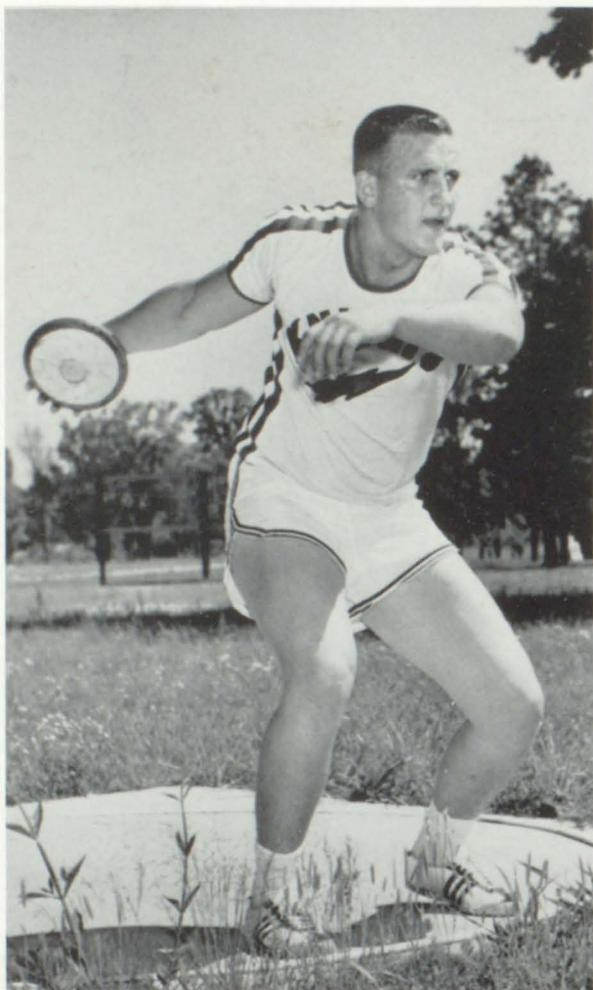

Robert Simmons hands off the baton to James Rice as the Knights pull ahead in the 440 relay. One of the reasons for the enthusiasm and desire of the Track Team is the excellent track and equipment provided for their use.

Larry Stephens and Wayne Davis, two of the outstanding boys of the 1962 track season, worked hard and practiced long to reap many honors for the students of Woodlawn. Both boys qualified to go to state and Wayne placed 3rd in the state with the javelin.

Larry Alexander clears the high jump by slipping over the horizontal bar with room to spare.

Outstanding Performance Given by TRACK Men

The fleet-footed Knights of Woodlawn made great strides during their 1962 track season. Wayne Davis speared the javelin 199' 4 1/4" at the district meet in which he qualified for the state meet. Wayne went on to place third in the state with the javelin. Larry Stephens cleared 42'

Claude Carrigan proved that hard work pays off when he threw the discus 145' 4" at the Mansfield track meet.

James Rice, Robert Simmons, Mickey Joiner, and Gregg Boring, who made up the Sherwood Park Mile Relay team, traveled around the oval in 3:30.9 at the district track meet.

3¾" in the hop-step-jump at the city track meet and leaped 21' 8" in the broadjump at the N.S.C. Relays. The 440 relay team of Sherwood Park, made up of Lane Saffel, Robert Simmons, James Rice, and Rodney Bauman clipped around the cinder circle in 44.6 seconds at the N.S.C. Relays. At the district track meet Squires Mickey Joiner and Robert Simmons along with Knights Greg Boring and James Rice carried the baton over the finish line for a 3:30.9 mile. In the background where the glory is small and the work hard, our track team had the spirit and support of managers Teddy Lynn and Glen Saunders. But the secret to the success of the 1962 Track Team does not end here. As every track man knows, the second track season of the Knights will always be remembered because of the outstanding coaching of A. L. Williams and Billy Joe Adcox.

Rodney Bauman, James Rice, Robert Simmons, and Lane Saffel, all members of the 440 relay team proved to be very swift-footed with their outstanding lap of 44.6 seconds at the N.S.C. Relays.

Lane Saffel pulls away to break the tape and take first place in his heat of the 440 relay at the City Track Meet.

Larry Stephens exemplifies the effort put forth by the track team in his desire to strain just to gain that extra inch.

BASEBALL Provides Climax for Spring Sports

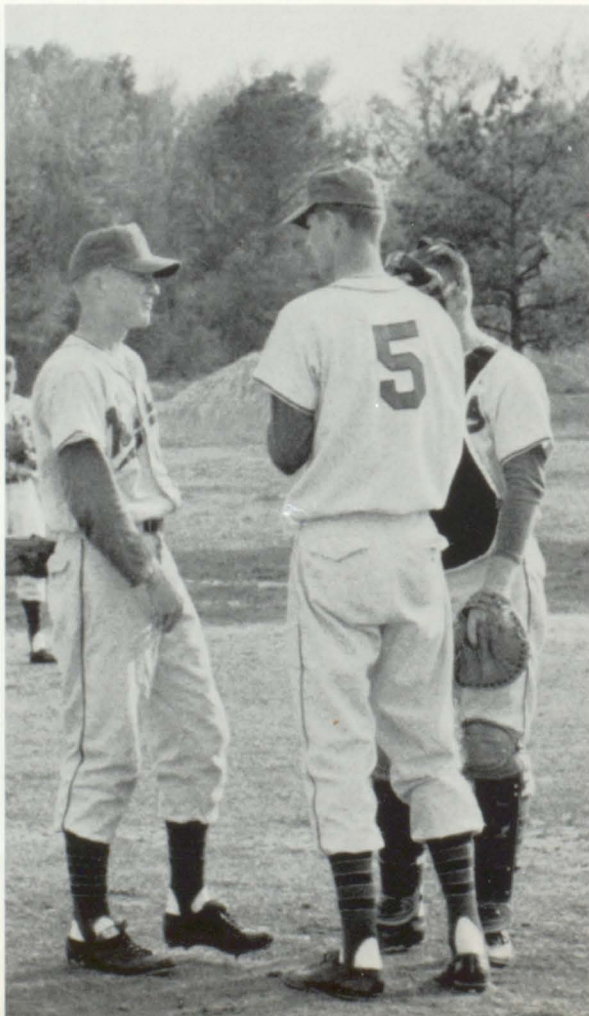

Billy Laird is safe at first base on a throwing error in a 4-3 loss to Bastrop.

COACH Jerry Adams

Ronnie Mercer and Jerry Downing hold a mound conference with pitcher Jimmy Kniepp before a district game with Bastrop.

Under the coaching of Jerry Adams, the Woodlawn diamondmen finished the 1962 baseball campaign with twelve wins in twenty-one games. With twelve lettermen leading the way the Knights won six of their first seven games. Woodlawn ended the season in fourth place in the district with a record of five wins and five losses.

Several Knights received special recognition for their playing. Maurice Hendrix, Terry Jones, and Ronnie Mercer were selected as members of the All-City team and Jon Stephenson was named All-District first baseman.

This year the Knights anticipate a winning season with seven returning lettermen heading the squad. Those who have previously earned letters are: Jon Stephenson, Ronnie Olague, Edwards Walker, Roy Martinez, Herbert Grubbs, Keith Annison, and Billy Payne. Others who will see plenty of action are Robert Smith and David Basinger.

TENNIS TEAM Plays in Twelve Matches

Coach Hedges' tennis team ended their season with great spirit. When the record book was closed, they had four wins, eight losses, and the desire to improve and better their game. When time permits, team members can be found on the court hard at practice. With their spirit and desire, they carried off two wins apiece from both Bossier and Ruston. The netters of Sherwood Park had 10 lettermen who highlighted the season. Knights' netters, Rob Duvall, Joy Anderson, Vickie Harris, Anita Robison, and Tommy Wynn were chosen as district representatives. The mixed doubles were taken care of by Anita and Tommy while Rob and Tommy took on the doubles. Players who strengthened the team were Daniel McCallum, Stevie Rogers, Jerome McGee, and Judy Parks.

COACH Lee Hedges

Anita Robison enthusiastically leads the band and Lancerettes in the Fight Song as the Knights come out on the field.

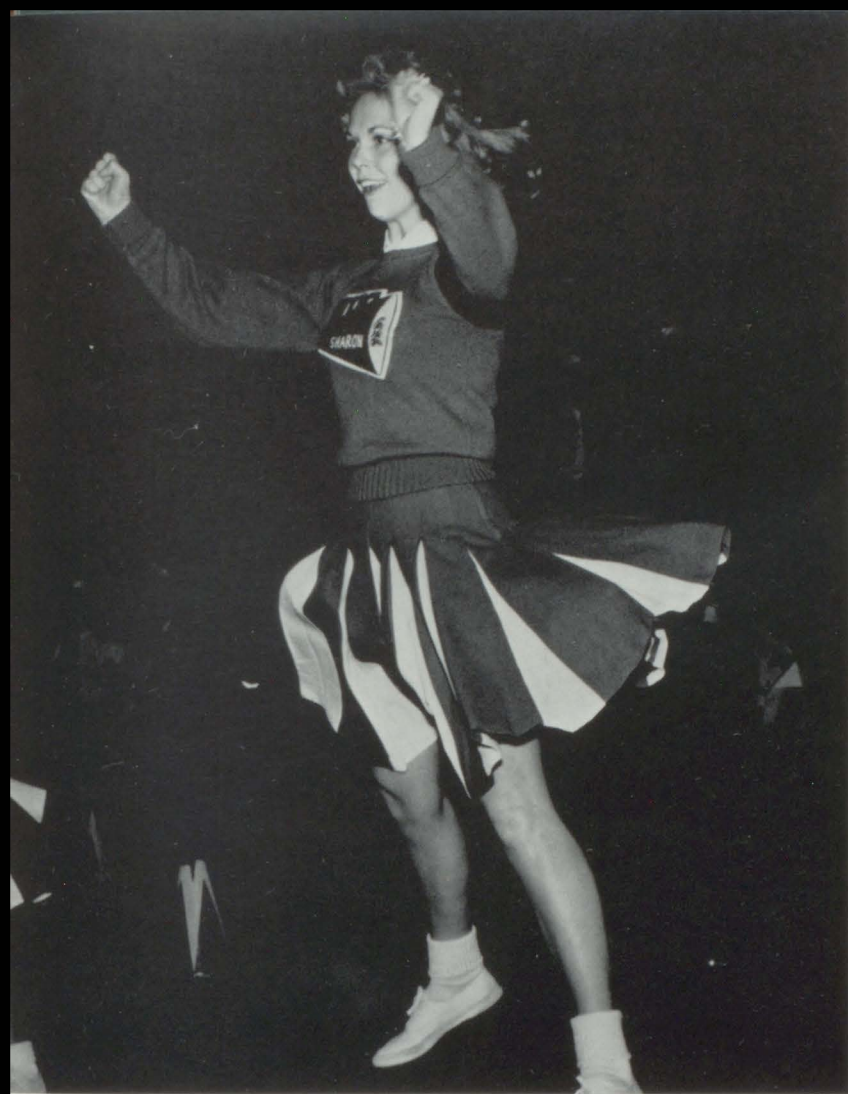

"We've got a new yell and it goes like this," yells Jan Reaves.

CHEERLEADERS Learn Yells at SMU Classes

The cheerleaders attended a special school at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, from August 12-17. Classes consisted of pom-pom sessions, tumbling exercises, and various lectures on techniques and crowd psychology. In daily competition with a group of 800 girls from seven southern states, they won an Honorable Mention, two Third Place ribbons, and one Second Place Ribbon.

CHEERLEADER ADVISORS—Miss Topsy George and Mrs. Jackie Barr

Vivacious Sharon Allen yells excitedly "N-E-V-E-R, never catch our man" just as the Knights made a touchdown. Sharon served Woodlawn all year as Head Cheerleader.

Cherie Yeager encourages much enthusiasm from the crowd as she yells S-C-O-R-E.

"... six bits a dollar," yells Sandra Thrasher, as she waves her pom-poms encouragingly at the crowd to stand up and holler.

LANCERETTES Drills Include Flash Cards

A sound that could be heard across the stadium during football games was "Up 2-3-4, White 2-3-4, Go 2-3-4" as the Lancerettes, with a record membership of 189, turned their flash cards to reveal designs.

A fund-raising project this year was a basketball game on December 6 against the women faculty members which netted enough money to buy some new drums.

Fans at the Bossier game observe the knight's head as it is revealed on the Lancerettes' flash cards. This design was added to their routine this year at the suggestion of the Lancerettes' advisors. Art students, under the direction of Miss Blackbourne, fixed the cards. Ronnie Atwood and Mitchell Mitton did the actual design and Geraldine La Lena, Johnette Dowden, and Dennis Jacks put it on the cards. Red and blue construction paper was cut and stapled onto the white cards to give the desired effect.

At the pep rally, held in the gym, before the Bossier game, Anita Robison, Sharon Allen, and Jan Reaves dance and sing to the Fight Song.

High-spirited Cherie Yeager, Sandra Thrasher, and Ramona Henderson, while dancing to Cha-Cha, help boost the spirits of the excited Knights before a game.

The Lancerettes show their ability to the student body as being the only school in Shreveport who uses flash cards while they make a "G" in spelling out Knights.

Colonel Judy Smart gives orders to the Lancerettes during Homecoming activities.

Decorating the goal posts before games proved to be a task for the Cheerleaders.

The Lancerettes and Cheerleaders are always there to support the Knights; here they wait eagerly for the team to come onto the field and to cheer them on.

Combined Activities of CHEERLEADERS and PEP SQUAD Produce Spirit

Led by the Cheerleaders and Lancerettes, the students of Woodlawn have exhibited enthusiastic cheering at all athletic events.

In addition to cheering at football and basketball games, the cheerleaders decorate the goal posts for the entire football season and make posters advertising the games. Slogan ribbons are sold on all "game days" and pep rallies are presented with the co-operation of the band and Lancerettes.

The Lancerettes use hand and flash cards routines at pep rallies and games. They attend every football game and all home basketball games. Members also perform along with the band during halftime activities for the Homecoming game.

The Lancerettes work hours each day learning and practicing new hand drills to go with the band and their songs; here they demonstrate a few of the hand drills at a pep rally.

GIRLS' PE Classes Include Various Games

A complete education is one that develops the whole individual. Physical education is taught in high school to help accomplish this purpose. Gym courses emphasize team effort and co-operation and stress the importance of sportsmanship.

The program includes various active games, tumbling and dancing—tap, modern, square and folk. In addition to learning the rules and fundamentals of the games played, the students are tested on their knowledge and their ability to play them.

Coinciding with the teaching of physical fitness are the health and first aid units that are also taught in this course.

Four full-time instructors are required to teach the 771 girls enrolled in the department this year.

Playing tennis in her Phys ed class presents a challenge to Debbie Valentine.

In one of Miss Dixon's junior physical education classes, hockey proves to be an intriguing game for Ruthie Newton, Beth Craft, Sandy Davison, and Harriet Koetter.

Volleyball requires teamwork to keep that ball moving. Lillian Potts just hit it and Gloria Gobert prepares to assist her in getting it back over the net.

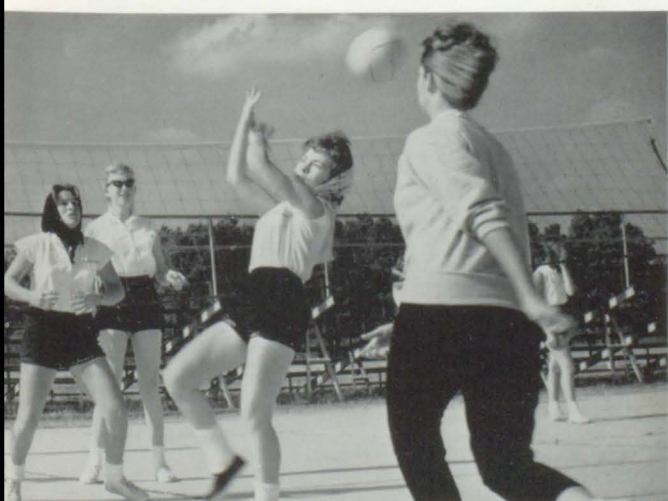

Harriet Koetter lets Ruby Holloway take that one in a game of table tennis.

Anna Gayle Colton, Mary Nell Godwin, and Debbie Spence observe Miss Jordan as she goes up for a shot in a class session.

Takraw is a fascinating game of Japanese origin. Sandy Davison demonstrates her skill at playing it by making a catch.

"One, two, three, four . . ." is heard as Troy Warren, Melvin Moses, Jack Harper, and Ray Jackson keep fit by doing push ups in gym.

To develop co-ordination and strengthen the leg muscles, Jack Harper and Ray Jackson do rope-jumping exercises in Coach Adam's class.

BOYS' PHYS ED Classes Have Fine Facilities

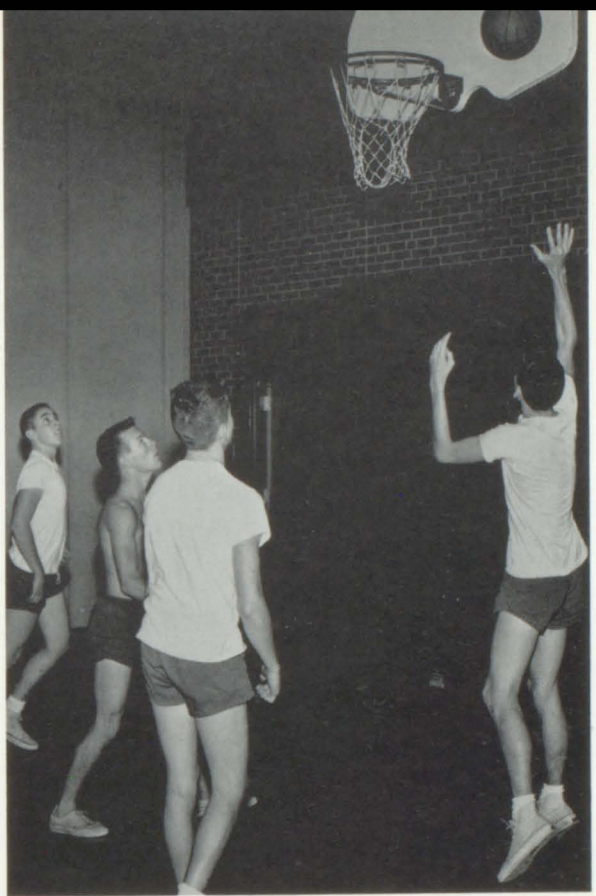

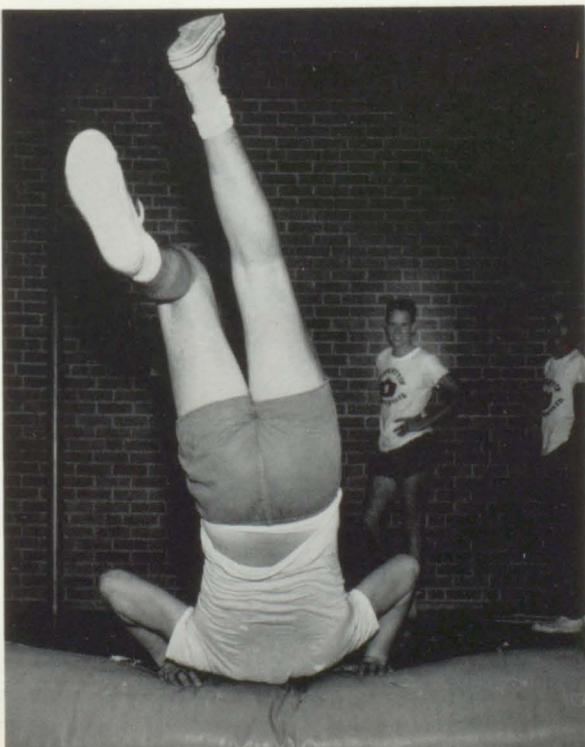

Co-operation and participation are learned by the students in the Physical Education Department. The students are taught that their attitudes, conduct, and health habits will affect them through later life.

Because of the large play area, the boys can participate in basketball, baseball, football, gymnastics, and calisthenics. Physical fitness tests are given to the students twice a year.

Each PE class meets one hour a day and has the finest facilities available in the city. The locker system is second to none. Each boy has his own locker and lock, and the same locker is issued to him at the beginning of every year.

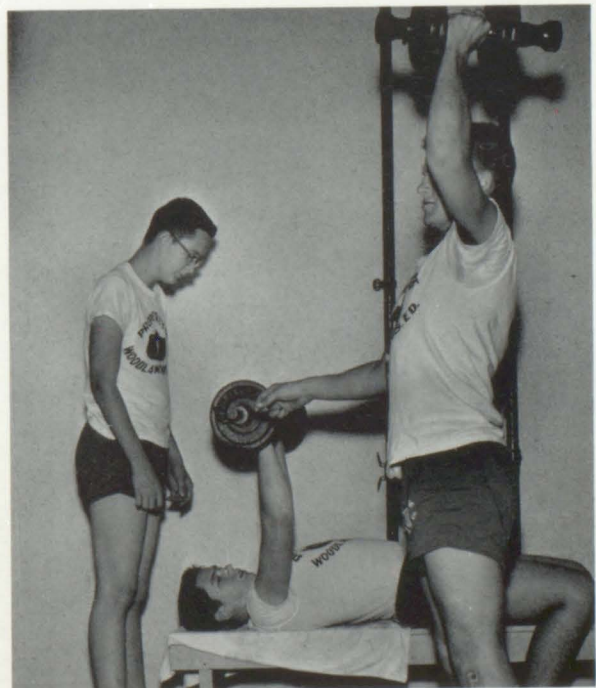

Several classes can be held in the gym simultaneously as it can be partitioned into four playing areas. Two classrooms are also available for instruction.

James Rachal and Bobby Rushing look on as an amateur tumbler demonstrates the timing necessary to perform a backward-roll.

Bobby Ross, Bruce Brasher, Lawrence Clark, and George Basinger develop mental strategy and physical ability by playing basketball.

Joe Matlock, Russel Patterson and Harold Scott use weights as a form of muscle building to add inches to their arms.

We will remember that school includes many things. Students must learn to study, listen, participate, and co-operate. The National Defense Cadet Corps teaches the importance of these and other things. It instructs cadets in habits of orderliness and precision, instills discipline, emphasizes respect for authority, develops patriotism, and gives elementary military training.

Those of us who are in the Corps have learned the importance of teamwork. We have seen how it is necessary for some to give orders, and it is necessary for some to take orders. These lessons can add to the maturity of an individual and help develop leadership qualities. Yes, we will remember the training we have received in the NDCC.

It is only three years old, but Woodlawn's unit of the National Defense Cadet Corps has a total number of 197 enrolled. Twenty-two officers, twenty sponsors, and one hundred fifty-five cadets make up the membership of this organization. Key officers are Cadet Colonel James E. Hammack, Cadet Lt. John Shannon, Cadet Major Tom McClurg, and Cadet Major James Fambrough.

standing of military life. The training includes discipline through set rules and regulations and it encourages patriotism and loyalty. Military courtesy is a part of the curriculum that receives special emphasis also. Cadets learn marching skills through rigid training and practice. If pursued at the college level, this training may lead to a commission in the U.S. Army Reserve.

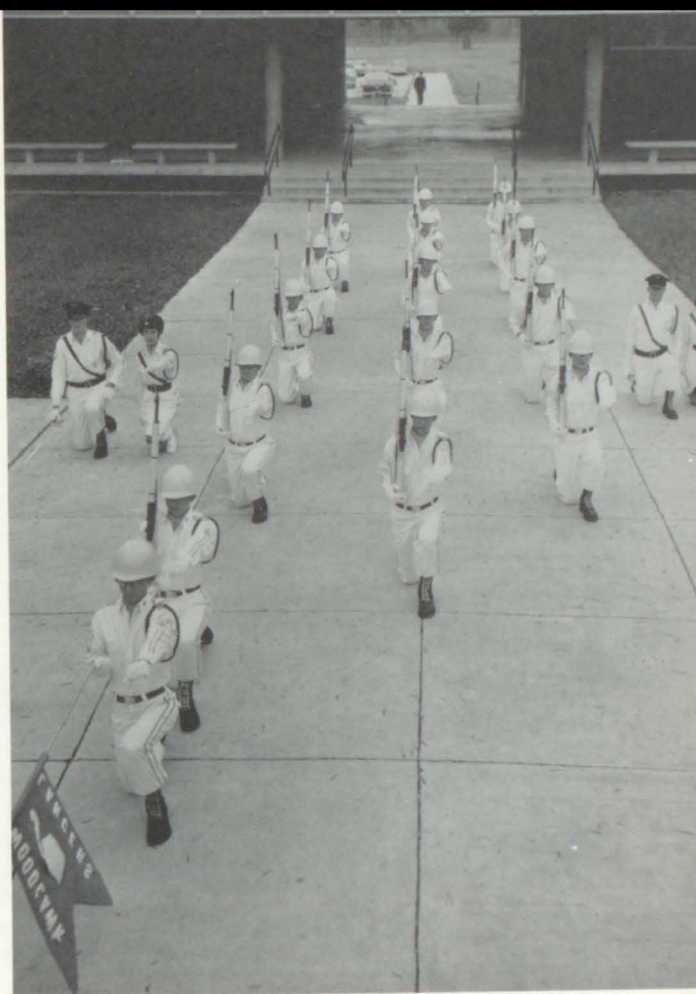

This three-year course provides one-fourth credit per year towards graduation and may be pursued in lieu of physical education.

Although it is not required, any sophomore, junior or senior may enroll in the NDCC. Five military classes are held each week with cadet officers in charge, under the supervision of the PMS. Lt. Colonel Hugh McClary is the Professor of Military Science and Lieutenant J. Marcus Covington is Assistant Professor of Military Science.

Esprit de corps is maintained by promotions, Federal Inspection, and extracurricular activities. These include a spaghetti supper, the Lancer Drill Team, Rifle Team, Sponsors' Corps, half-time activities at football games, Holiday in Dixie Parade, Veterans' Day Parade, Arlington, Texas, Drill Team Competition, the Military Ball and a two week voluntary encampment at Fort Polk.

Cadets prepare annually for the Federal Inspection usually held in April. Again, Woodlawn was rated as an Honor Unit by army officials inspecting the corps. This rating was due to a superior rating in training, administration, and support of the unit by school officials.

OFFICERS AND SPONSORS CLUB in First Year

With a membership of 42, the Officers and Sponsors Club began its first year as an organization at Woodlawn. The group which meets twice monthly works for betterment of the crops, to improve leadership qualities, and discusses pertinent problems concerning the corps.

This club creates good public relations for Woodlawn as its members participate in parades, military ceremonies, and other school-sponsored activities.

A weiner roast and dance held at a private camp on Lake Bistineau on November 17 was the first social function. Woodlawn also served as host school at a reception for all officers and sponsors from Byrd, Fair Park and Woodlawn at Barksdale on Saturday, January 12. This occasion had its setting in the Starlight Room of the Officers' Club.

BAND DRUM MAJOR

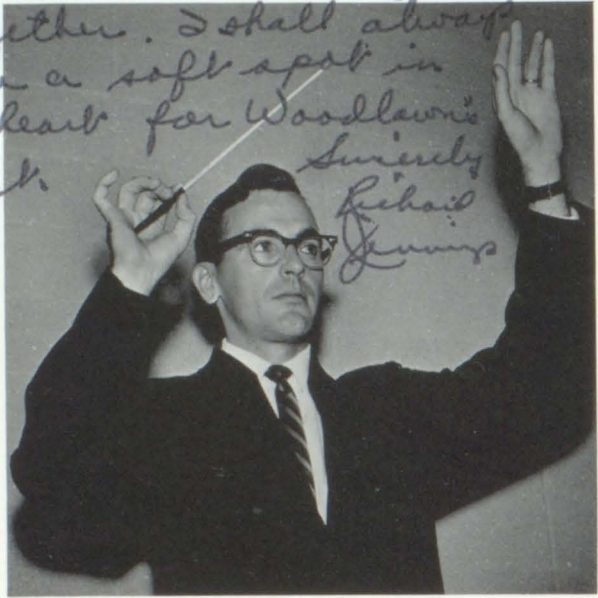

In the midst of all the rush and clamor of a school day, we have found one thing that affords a feeling of calm and satisfaction. That thing is music. Some of us belong to the musical organizations, and we have found that they provide a wonderful way of expressing the feelings within oneself.

Band, orchestra, and choir are made up of students gathered together because of mutual interests. These groups share their accomplishments with others as they perform at numerous school and city functions. We will long remember the precision movements of the marching band at halftime shows and the excitement that the music added to the pep rallies. We will remember the harmonious voices of the chorus members at their concerts, especially at the Christmas assembly when voices filled the auditorium with exalting music.

CONCERT BAND Plays for School Events

Concert Band rehearsals begin in August and by September each student has been drilled in marching and playing fundamentals for three hours daily.

Early in the school year the band begins a busy three months of marching and playing. This includes football halftime shows, one major parade, a marching festival, and all the pep rallies. Excellent ratings were received at all festivals entered.

Student officers aid the band by taking charge of music, instruments, uniforms, equipment, squad rehearsals, loading busses, inspections, field rehearsals, band room rehearsals, discipline in rehearsal, and discipline to and from field rehearsals.

Each student must be auditioned by the choir director and must be willing to uphold the standards of this trained group in order to become a member.

Chorus is a regular class that meets one hour per day five days a week. One credit is given in this subject.

Choir membership provides an opportunity for performing in assemblies, and provides participants with a knowledge of something that can be used and enjoyed throughout life.

Two concerts are given annually; one in the winter and one in the spring. One program was given for a Cedar Grove Rotary Club luncheon, and several school assembly programs featured these singers. A carol sing was also held at the Southside Village Shopping Center just before Christmas.

Three members of this organization were selected as members of the All-State Chorus that sang for the Louisiana Teachers' Convention in New Orleans last December.

The Girls' Choir, which appears on many programs, also affords opportunity for fine vocal training.

Both groups present a neat appearance as the girls all dress in the same color with matching shoes—the Concert Choir in blue and the Girls' Choir in green. The boys wear dark suits.

Carols were sung by the Concert Choir at the special Christmas Assembly that was sponsored by the Student Council.

HISTORY CLUB PRESIDENT

There are numerous organizations and activities on our campus that afford opportunities for us to render service to our school. Those of us who are interested in secretarial work may find joy in typing minutes while serving as a club secretary. Those who are interested in journalism may find an outlet for their writing ability by joining the staff of the school newspaper. Those who wish to get practice in salesmanship may do so by joining one of the three ad staffs available. There are enough activities to provide places for the interests of all. These organizations furnish a challenge to individual talent, initiative, and intelligence. We will remember these club activities, for they have broadened our interests and have improved our skills. Indeed, our activities are a part of the whole of Woodlawn.

ACTIVITIES

Council leaders serve the school by planning and carrying out various projects. President Cynthia Arnold discusses preliminary plans for the Knights' Ball with her fellow officers. STUDENT COUNCIL Is Elected as President "... Of the students, by the students, for the students" is a phrase that could be used to describe the operation of the Woodlawn Student Council. It is an organization of students, elected by students to serve as official representatives in matters of concern to the entire school. These representatives act as a body to co-ordinate the activities of the various clubs on the campus. Meetings are held twice monthly on the first and third Mondays.

Woodlawn's council is currently serving as President of the Louisiana Association of Student Councils.

Though it has existed for only three years, the organization was elected to this honor at the State Convention held at Terrebonne High School in Houma, Louisiana, in October. Other conventions attended were the LASC Workshop in August at the University of Southwestern Louisiana in Lafayette and the Southern Association meeting at Thomas Jefferson High School in Richmond, Virginia, in October. Student delegates served as discussion group leaders at the state and district conventions, Miss Wigley, Advisor, was a group leader at the summer workshop at USL.

LASC workshop delegates Charlotte Lynch, Lou Popejoy, Miss Ramona Wigley, and Cynthia Arnold review notes they made.

This activity-filled session began early in the school year. An information desk and guides were furnished for the sophomores on Orientation Day. A Teacher Appreciation Tea was held in the cafeteria at which time the new teachers were given Woodlawn car decals. Paper was collected and sold all during the year, but a concerted effort for one week netted about 12,000 lbs. A Hobo Day, with many non-council students participating, provided a number of jobs and an increase in funds. A special Student Council Assembly was held on December 11, and there was a council-sponsored and co-ordinated Christmas Assembly on December 28 with numerous clubs taking part. Posters placed around school kept students aware that the council planned and directed a clean-up campaign. One day before Christmas, faculty members enjoyed refreshments furnished by the council.

A school store, completely council operated, is maintained year around for the convenience of the students and teachers. Student body officers are elected through the use of voting machines obtained by this group. Special busses to out-of-town athletic events are chartered through club efforts. Two annual school dances, the Homecoming Dance and the Knights' Ball, are also under the direction of this organization.

Cynthia Arnold, President, and Lou Popejoy, Chaplain, were voted outstanding girl and boy in their respective councils at LASC Workshop at Lafayette. Cynthia and Glen Gordon, Parliamentarian, received the annual youth awards given by the local Optimist Club.

Student Council officers and senators served as guides February 18 to old and new state officers to plan the LASC Convention for next year. The meeting was held all day long at school and a banquet at the Westerner concluded the day.

Working on decorations for the Knights' Ball will give these students "Moments to Remember"—also the theme for the ball. Attaching red and blue crepe paper to wire ovals requires patience for Sharon Allen, Cal Baker, Ann Graves Mitchell Mitton, Donna Hand, Joe Geter, Paul Clark, and Tommy Wynn.

Students brought papers by the score for the council-sponsored paper drive. It was termed successful when six tons of paper were sold at one time for about $60. Paul Clark and Charlotte Lynch each add an armload to the growing stack.

Council Members urged the entire school to co-operate in a clean-up campaign. Each homeroom was asked to contribute at least one poster to be used. Sarah Grunwald, Campaign Committee Chairman, chats with Gerald Box, a homeroom representative who made a poster, as he feeds the hungry trash basket attached to the sign.

Before the convention began the group toured Washington, D.C. LEFT: Henry Hungerbeeler and Johnny Rhea pose for the cameraman on the street in front of the White House. RIGHT: Miss Wigley and Cynthia Arnold stop on Pennsylvania Avenue and ponder what to see next.

Student Council Hobo-Day found students doing varied activities. There was a twenty-five piece ironing to be done, a triangular flower bed to be dug, an acre to be mowed, a fence to be edged, and a trailer to be waxed. Those were some of the jobs that found their way to the list of "To Do's." LEFT: Ann Dear found time to wash a car. Faculty members enjoyed cookies and candies in the lounge one day before Christmas because of the generosity of the council. Ann Dear, Sarah Grunwald, Cynthia Arnold, and Judy Smart make preparations and arrange the refreshment table.

Woodlawn was host to the Fourth District Convention of Student Councils last spring. The meeting was held on a Saturday and council members registered the students as they arrived. Delegates from more than twenty schools attended.

HERALD STAFF Headed by Mary Lynn Odum

Working hard to get all galley proofs checked before sending them to the printer is the job of 29 reporters and four editors. The reporters, first period journalism students, learn the so-called "ropes" by actually helping to put the HERALD together.

The staff, headed by Editor-in-Chief, Mary Lynn Odum, keeps a close tab on all school activities and then tries, to the best of their ability, to relate that news to the students of Woodlawn.

On the day before the paper is sold at school, the staff members go to the printers, Harwell Printing Company, and make all final corrections. The morning following the final check, the HERALDS are sold at school during the first period. This procedure is followed for all eight editions published during the year.

Mary Lynn also edits the Knights' Lights, a column that appears weekly in the Shreveport Journal.

QUILL and SCROLL Chapter Installed Here

Mrs. Elizabeth Lawson, last year's HERALD advisor, presented the charter to Mr. Turner at the installation ceremony held in the school auditorium.

A chapter of Quill and Scroll, an international society for high school journalists, was installed at Woodlawn last year. The charter was received in the spring and an installation ceremony was held in assembly on April 17, 1962. Thirty students were installed as members in the school's first chapter.

Stimulating interest in the field of journalism, the organization has several requirements for membership. To be eligible, a student must be a senior or junior, in the upper two-thirds of his class, superior in the journalistic field, recommended by an advisor, and be approved by the National Society.

Members here were selected from the following publications staff: HERALD Editorial, HERALD Ad, ACCOLADE Editorial, ACCOLADE Ad, ACCOLADE Circulation and Football Program Ad Staff.

Several charter members were photographed in front of the poster, printed by the art students, used as decoration for the assembly program. Mrs. Lawson and Miss Willa Smith, standing at either end of the banner, were in charge of the service.

HERALD AD STAFF Sells for Eight Editions

"I'm a Woodlawn student, and I work on the ad staff of our school paper. Would you be interested in buying an ad for the HERALD?" This conversation is one that may be overheard as staff members, who must sell at least 50 inches of advertising space, contact local business firms.

Sales work starts in the summer and continues as needed during the sixth period each day. Ads are sold for eight editions of the HERALD.

Work doesn't end with the selling however. This group has the responsibility of placing the ads in the proper place on the dummy sheet, billing and collecting from advertisers, and proofreading ads at the printers.

Mrs. Kirkland, advisor, checks with the staff officers to see if enough advertising has been sold for one edition. Assisting her in making the tabulations are Sheila Jones, Manager; Ruthie McInnis, Assistant Manager; Fran Hicks, Assistant Manager; and Joan Parker, Secretary.

Working in one of the company libraries, Jim Bolin, Taylor Publishing Company artist, discusses possibilities of layout design for the 1963 yearbook with Miss Willa Smith, ACCOLADE advisor, and Linda Fairley, ACCOLADE editor. James B. Cobb, Taylor's representative who works with Woodlawn, observes. Miss Smith and Linda visited the company offices in November to make plans for this edition.

Editor Linda Fairley could be called "The Thinker" as she ponders over the problems involved in drawing a yearbook dummy.

ACCOLADE Wins Two First Place Ratings

As Woodlawn has grown, so has our yearbook. The school enrollment has increased from about 900 during the first year to the present enrollment of nearly 1600. The ACCOLADE grew from the 192 pages in the first edition to 248 for the 1962 book, and this the third volume contains 304 pages.

Copy sheets, pictures, rulers, and typewriters are only a few pieces of the equipment used daily by an ACCOLADE staff member. Fourteen students, selected by the advisor, worked each day during fifth and sixth periods to do the required work to meet three deadlines—December 17, January 21, and February 28.

A visitor in the ACCOLADE "cubby hole" would be amazed to see how the entire book is planned in detail and all pictures are drawn to scale.

The 1962 ACCOLADE received two first place honor ratings—one from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and one from the National Scholastic Press Association.

ACCOLADE AD STAFF Starts Work in Summer

Norma Jones, Business Manager, places a call to an advertiser to verify a change that should be made in an ad.

Students who work on this staff start their work before the school year begins. Staff members contact prospective buyers during August. This year the group succeeded in selling over 200 ads of various sizes to local concerns. This revenue helps to finance publication of the yearbook.

A staff member must have a "C" plus average, be recommended by all of his teachers, and sell $150 in ads by the end of the first six weeks to remain a member of this group.

For the second year in a row, Norma Jones was named Business Manager because her combined total in ads brought in the most money.

Mrs. Sarah Williams, Advisor, and Dianne Bates, Assistant Manager, check on the number of ads sold this year.

Staff members Donna Hand and Ginger Day collect the receipt of ACCOLADE sales from Mrs. Margaret Kirkland. Accounting for the money taken in by the homeroom teachers is one of the main duties of these students.

ACCOLADE CIRCULATION STAFF Sells Books

Open your eyes; it's 5:30 a.m.! is a call that is heard on one day each May by the members of this staff. Since the ACCOLADES are usually delivered at school about 6 a.m. on the day of distribution, this group comes at that early hour to check and arrange the books to have them ready by first period.

They are also responsible for the sale of the yearbook. Three sale days are held in the fall for which they handle the advertising and also count the money. A record sale of 1200 books was made this year.

Hours are required to tabulate the final results of a year-book sale. All staff members check in with Mrs. Barr after receipt books and money are collected.

Student helpers work behind the counters as the lines go through in the cafeteria to assist the staff in serving food for about 1200 people daily. Lunch shifts begin at 11:15 a.m. and continue until 1:00 p.m.

Contributing to the smooth operation of our school, approved volunteers serve an hour each day as office assistants. These students answer the telephone and intercom, call teachers of students who check out, and deliver morning and afternoon sheets.

Members of the visual aids group run films during their study hall. They also operate slide projectors and tape recorders, making simple repairs when necessary. The girls in the group keep up with the magazines and do secretarial work.

For the convenience of the students, the Student Council maintains a store to sell school supplies. Four people, under the leadership of the council treasurer, serve as workers.

SCHOOL STORE WORKERS—Cal Baker, Right, Student Council treasurer, discusses with the workers the prices of the school sweaters for sale in the council-operated store. Betsy Meyertons, Avard Sibley, Barbara Norrid, and Dianne Willis admire the sweaters as he tells about them.

FOOTBALL PROGRAM AD STAFF Is Composed of Thirty-three Seniors

Over 5000 football programs were sold by these girls at our four home games this season. At the Byrd game alone, about 2200 were sold.

Salesmen work in pairs, and each group is assigned a particular area in which to sell at the stadium. Students have a special incentive to work hard as there is usually a contest to see which two partners can sell the most programs.

The staff for next year was chosen this spring. The 1961-62 staff nominated possible members and the advisor and faculty made the final selections. Graduating senior girls with a C plus average, a nice personality, a willingness to work, and having shown qualities of dependability, are eligible. Each girl is required to sell at least $100 in ads to remain a member. If the girls meet the qualifications, they are also eligible for membership in Quill and Scroll.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION Trains for Business

Forty-four students are enrolled in the DE training program this year. All are DE Club members and all are employed. The students receive two credits per year in this course—one for class work and one for on-the-job training.

The instructor, Mr. Self, grades the class work and employers grade the student employees on attitude toward the job, initiative, attendance, and progress. Each trainee must work as much as 15 hours a week and some average 25.

An employer-employee banquet was held in the spring to express appreciation to local businessmen for their co-operation with the school program. The outstanding boy and girl in DE were announced at the banquet.

RED CROSS Sells Mums, Packs Food for Needy

Giant mum corsages, bearing a big W for Woodlawn, graced many shoulders at the homecoming football game as a result of a high school Red Cross project. Club members obtained orders through each homeroom, and a local florist ordered the desired number for them. Members then distributed these mums at school on the afternoon of the game.

To further fulfill its purpose of service to the school, a special committee compiles the student directory and sells the copies to the students.

Community service is rendered by this group as they collect and distribute food to needy families for Christmas. Too, several people aid in the teenage program of the National Foundation for the March of Dimes. Then each summer a few members serve as volunteer workers at the Veteran's Hospital.

Last summer, Bertha Black and Martha Emmons attended the Leadership Training Center at Bunkie, Louisiana.

To create interest in buying corsages, the Red Cross gave away two free blue mums. Linda Pace and Jimmy Fuller won the prizes because their names were drawn by Mrs. Allen. About 150 mum corsages were sold by the organization.

Glenda Young, President; Linda Kraft, Vice President; Elease Patton, Secretary; Bertha Black, Treasurer; and Martha Emmons, Parliamentarian make plans to pack an overseas chest to be sent to a school in a depressed area. This box is packed with 30 or 45 of each item included. Hand towels, wash cloths, pencils, and rulers are the types of things included in the shipment.

SAFETY COUNCIL on National Honor Roll

For the second year in a row, Woodlawn has been included on the National School Safety Honor Roll by the National Safety Council for Exceptional Effort in Safety.

Sue Blankenship, President of this service organization, also serves as Vice President of Traffic Safety for the Louisiana Youth Safety Council. Johnette Dowden serves on the committee to evaluate the student sections of the Governor's Safety Conference. Representatives attended the Louisiana Youth Safety Council Convention in August, the Governor's Safety Conference in December, and the Southern Safety Conference in March.

Activities include checking fire extinguishers, directing school fire drills, selling and checking car stickers, and promoting traffic safety in the halls.

FTA Members Number 55 in First Year

Students who are interested in teaching as a career organized a chapter of Future Teachers of America at Woodlawn this year. It is intended to acquaint students with the teaching profession, to cultivate character essential in good teachers, and to aid in selecting the best college curriculum for the future teacher.

In the spring, they sponsored a Teacher Appreciation Day and a Tea. A program was begun to select regularly a "Teacher of the Month." Mrs. Jo Allen, the first recipient of this honor, was named in January.

DEBATE CLUB Members Place in Tournaments

Meeting twice weekly, the debaters strive to develop the ability to present ideas on their feet in an organized and forceful manner.

The Knight forensic group has participated in several activities this year including debate clinics and speech tournaments and festivals. Students participated in the events with enthusiasm and several received ratings through the year as they entered these meets. Representatives from the Speech Department entered the individual events and the debate squad entered team events.

As a result of ratings in the tournaments, two people, Rodney Runyan and Cherie Yeager, qualified for the State Speech Tournament held in Baton Rouge.

A forensic banquet was held in the spring and all speech awards won by members were distributed at that time.

This organization sponsored a booth at the NDCC Carnival which netted the group an increase in finances.

FHA Members Include Three Parish Officers

"Toward New Horizons" is a motto that will be remembered by the girls in the Future Homemakers of America, as it challenges them to improve personal, family, and community living.

The Woodlawn chapter claims three of the officers of the Parish FHA. Sheila Mondello is Secretary, Robbie Ashford is Parliamentarian, and Mary Jo Laenger serves as historian. Club member Connie Gammill met requirements and received a junior homemaker degree.

The NDCC Carnival gave an opportunity to increase finances, so the club netted a good return from several games and the sale of cookies and candy.

4-H CLUB Hosts Parish Achievement Day

Better citizens for tomorrow are trained in this club that stresses development of the 4-H's—head, heart, hands, and health—because members pledge themselves to clearer thinking, greater loyalty, larger service, and better living.

In addition to working at their chosen projects, club members stay busy doing many things. They help a needy family at Christmas, make a display for National 4-H Week, and participate in the Parish and State fairs and the Spring Livestock Show.

On April 20, Woodlawn hosted the Caddo Parish Achievement Day registering about 400 students from 35 4-H clubs.

Bill Andrews, chapter member, enjoys raising Shetland ponies for a project. At the present time he has a herd of five.

John Garvin's livestock projects include swine, beef, and dairying. He exhibits his registered Holstein heifer.

FFA Increases in Membership Yearly

Doubling its membership each year since 1961, the Future Farmers of America Chapter has an enrollment of 60 this year. Membership in the FFA helps to develop an appreciation for rural life and provides opportunity for boys interested in agriculture to gain experiences which are valuable to them later in related businesses. It also provides recognition for the boys who go beyond the minimum requirements of membership.

Burton Long, next year's candidate for State Farmer degree, is shown with his registered Angus bull calf.

Several boys exhibited projects in the State Fair and also participated in the Children's Barnyard at the Fair.

The Chapter was represented by members at the State Leadership Camp in Bunkie, the State Convention held in Shreveport, and the National Convention in Kansas City, Missouri. Some members participated in the District Judging Contest in Natchitoches and the State Judging Contest in Baton Rouge.

Billy Almand, chapter president, received his State Farmer degree this year.

Several FFA boys have horses. Kenneth Adams shows off his pretty two-year old gelding.

Moss and Barney McCalister are known state wide for their outstanding herd of registered Hampshires.

Paul Kelly bought a registered Hereford heifer two years ago. He is shown with his first Hereford bull.

Three club members and one of the club sponsors, part of the Woodlawn delegation attending the La-Miss-Tenn Convention last spring in Biloxi, Mississippi, relax between meetings. They enjoy the sun at the Buena Vista Motel.

Woodlawn Key Clubbers worked in three shifts lasting from 10:00 a.m. until sundown on Sunday, January 27, to aid in the local March of Dimes. They weighed people and sold tickets for the airlift at the Downtown Airport in Shreveport. Their work also included the selling of popcorn and peanuts which yielded additional collections for the drive. Jack Harper, Anne Gray, Edwards Walker, Mickey Joiner, Cal Baker, and Paul Clark prepare to begin work during their shift.

Joel Walton, Key Club projects chairman, admires one of the Knights painted on the gym floor. Joel headed the committee that selected the design and secured Mr. Jack Beard, art teacher at Linwood Junior High, to paint it.

KEY CLUB Has Knight Head Painted in Gym

High ideals in daily living is a main point stressed in this organization. The club was founded to help young men develop initiative and leadership qualities, to prepare them to serve the school and community and to prepare them for useful citizenship.

To keep themselves reminded of these goals, this group of thirty, led by Mr. Furr, meets each Tuesday morning at 7:30 a.m. Six sponsors, elected by club members, also attend each meeting.

The knights on the gym floor were painted as a result of the Key Club efforts. Joel Walton was chairman of the committee responsible for that project. Also a project was carried out at Christmas when they presented a basket to a needy family.

Each Thursday three members attended a Kiwanis luncheon held at the Cedar Grove Methodist Church as guests of the Kiwanis Club. Several delegates also attended the La-Miss-Tenn Convention in Lafayette, Louisiana.

LATIN CLUB Member Holds State Office

Betsy Meyertons and Pat Grob took part in the twist contest at the Peppermint Forum the night of the NDCC Carnival.

Attendete! Listen! Socii Romani—Friends of the Romans—is one of three chapters of the city Junior Classical League. This club is active in social and business affairs of the JCL. The Woodlawn chapter is fortunate to have the state JCL treasurer as a member.

This club, composed of 70 members, has one business meeting each month and one social meeting—usually in a member's home.

An Inter Lingua Noel Fiesta, a Christmas party, had participants from the French, Spanish, and Latin Clubs. For the NDCC Carnival, the club operated the Peppermint Forum. Many members attended the state convention at Byrd High School in April.

Socii Romani members enjoy reading the state Latin club's newspaper, Nuntius Latinus, which Betsy Meyertons and Tim Nelson post for fellow members to see.

Mike Johnson's smile seems to indicate that he is enjoying the broom dance at the Inter Lingua Fiesta.

Latin Club members sang Christmas carols in Latin for entertainment at the Inter Lingua Noel Fiesta which was held at the Southern Hills Civic center on December 15, 1962.

At the first social meeting on October 26, Jimmy Edwards and Johnny Ramsey head the group in doing the Limbo.

Mrs. Allen, head librarian, discusses with Tom Odom, a library worker, the classification of non-fiction books.

LIBRARY CLUB Tries to Encourage Reading

In an effort to encourage an interest in books and reading, and to give library service to the school as a whole, the Library Club sponsors a poster campaign for National Library week.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Tindol, the group is very active. This organization recruits library assistants, and it furnishes a staff of student assistants to work in the library.

To be a member, one must show an interest in the work and pay dues. Club meetings are held once a month.

HISTORY CLUB Named for Louisiana Native Who Was US President

To inspire a student to maintain an interest in things past can sometimes be a job. The Zachary Taylor History Club, named after Louisiana's only President, was founded to keep alive that interest.

Seventy members meet twice a month to further their interest in the social sciences. Through this organization they learn more about the historical places of interest in Louisiana, such as the Civil War Museum in Mansfield. Students who have had one year of social studies and a C average may join.

DRAMA CLUB Provides Training for Students in Speech Activities

Early in the school year some of the club members toured the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse at Centenary College with Mrs. Lynda Jones, an Advisor until Christmas.

The group participated in the NDCC Carnival in November by giving a satire on TV programs. Members also appeared as guests on Teentime, a local TV program, to give the television scramble.

As a Christmas project, students made house slippers of wash cloths and presented them to the first grade children at the Retarded School.

Occasional plays are given to provide further training in the field of drama and public-speaking.

The club is guided in these activities by Mrs. Mary Ann Hamilton and Mrs. Alice Richardson.

Members of the Drama Club made plans during the year to take a field trip to the KTAL-TV station. President Judy Bridges discusses the arrangement of the studio with the other officers. Sheila Mondello, Secretary; Betsy Meyertons, Chaplain; Carole Freeman, Treasurer; and Judy Smart, Vice President; listen intently to her directions.

ART CLUB Designs Set for Accolade Pageant

The castle used in the presentation of the Homecoming Court was designed and built by Art Club members. In addition to this they draw posters for special occasions, and make artistic displays for holidays. An art show is held in the spring, and the students put their work on display.

Membership numbers 27, and the club meets each Tuesday after school. It gives people who like art a chance to use it more extensively. A student must have at least a C average to be eligible for membership.

OFFICERS: Mary Rose Pack, Treasurer; Dwight Snuffer, Vice President; Ken Arntson, President; Mary Ann Morrow, Reporter; Miss Tommie Blackburne, Advisor; and Karen Bryant, Secretary; stand among blocks of wood that were later used by some of the art students for carving primitive heads.

FRENCH CLUB Gives Hand Puppet Show

Students who take French have the opportunity to become a member of Les Amis Francais. Twenty-five students claim membership in this organization, and they meet every Tuesday afternoon. They find that this club gives them the opportunity to learn a more practical use of the language, and to study the history and culture of the French people. Also it serves to promote a bond of friendship between our country and France.

Club funds were increased by sponsoring the Puppet Show at the NDCC Carnival. Collecting clothes and toys for a needy family at Christmas, promoting joint activities with the other language clubs in school, and writing to pen pals in French are some of the things that club members participate in.

With a background display proclaiming "Peace on Earth" President Kathryn Tucker, Vice President Carol Kessler, and Treasurer Marcus Lites listen to a reading by Elease Patton. Elease, Secretary, reads the Christmas story in French to them.

Patty Ragsdale, left, and Judy Coleman, right, observe as Voncile Jennings and Jennifer McKinnon demonstrate how the puppet show works. These puppets were used in the play "Little Red Riding Hood" presented by the French Club at the NDCC Carnival. Voncile holds the Grandmother and the Forester; Jennifer displays Red Riding Hood and the Wolf.

LOS ALEGRES Headed by Tom McClurg, Jr.

Those students who are taking Spanish or have studied it already find enjoyment in learning additional things about our Spanish-speaking neighbors.

Los Alegres, meaning The Happy Ones, was founded to promote and encourage this interest in their customs and ideas. Twenty-eight people claim membership in this organization and they meet the first Thursday in each month.

Spanish music on records and colored slides on Mexico have added to the variety of the club's programs and encourage a more thorough understanding of the language.

Linda,
Well you're about to leave Woodlawn and all the good times of high school. Even though we had a few "difficulties", we still had a few good times. I sure enjoyed the Knight Ball. I hope you will remain as sweet and cute as you are now. Best of luck in the years to come.
Love,

Mason
Junior: 63-

We will remember the generosity of the business people in the Shreveport area. They have supported our school so many times by buying advertisements for our football programs, the HERALD, and the ACCOLADE. One will recall that three years ago, in the summer when ads were sold for our first ACCOLADE, there was no yearbook to show previous ads to prospective buyers. Yet they had confidence in us and in our future, so they co-operated with our school and purchased ads. This revenue has helped greatly in financing our book; thus, we will remember them when we make purchases in the future.

People ENJOY Their JOURNAL TEEN-O-RAMA is one reason why!

It is popular to point a critical finger at today's young people. But more and more grownups are becoming aware that for every "juvenile delinquent" there are 99 normal, healthy and wholesome youngsters who never get into serious trouble.

And it is no longer true that "you don't read about the good ones." Every Thursday our Teen-O-Rama section features news of, by, and for greater Shreveport's high schoolers. The Journal gratefully acknowledges our hard working young "correspondents" whose reports of goings-on at our many fine high schools give us all an opportunity to observe the wonderful world of Teen-O-Rama.

Young folks know, and grownups agree, it's fun to read The Journal.

Linda,
Daddy, How many years have we known each other? It hardly seems possible that we are coming to the end of our senior year.
As we go our ways we may meet again, but I want to take this opportunity to wish you the very best of everything. This old world I want to offer, particularly in college.
next year, and may God's blessing keep you always.

Linda, I hate to see you go. I really didn't know you very well before this year and still don't. I wish that we would have had a longer length of time to be together on the boat trip instead of having to go in at 10:30. I hope that I will be able to see you during the summer and that we will be able to do something. I will also look forward to seeing you at 25th. So until then signara, beautiful.

Editor Finishes Work and Expresses Thanks

Here it is—your memory book—your 1963 ACCOLADE. In preparing this yearbook, it was our purpose to record in words and pictures the highlights of this year. If you have liked the results, then we feel that this book has accomplished its purpose. Now that our job is completed, it is time to show appreciation to the people whose work made your book possible.

Our thanks go to the faculty advisor, Miss Willa Smith, who was always ready with words of advice and encouragement, and most of all we thank her for all the hard work she did. We also want to thank Mrs. Sarah Williams and her Business Staff and Mrs. Jackie Barr and her Circulation Staff. It took hours for them to sell the ads and subscriptions for the yearbook and to keep a record of the money received.

Mr. Jimmy Cobb, Taylor Representative, was always very helpful. He checked regularly on our work and kept us encouraged when we thought that our task was too big for us. We appreciate the kindness of all the people at Taylor Publishing Company, especially do we thank Mr. Jim Bolin who assisted us with preliminary plans for this book.

We will always remember Mr. Tom Drummond, our photographer, and his wife for the excellent work they did on our pictures. Thanks to them our yearbook contains pictures of the highest quality.

The school administration, headed by Mr. Earl Turner, has been very understanding and co-operative. We really thank him and all the teachers for their interest in our work. We appreciate the kindness of Colonel and Mrs. McClary in letting us take pictures of the Class Favorites in their home. Mr. Johnny McFerren also helped us by making prints of some emblems for our ad pages.

Writing copy, drawing layouts, cropping pictures, running errands, and a million other things go into the making of a yearbook. Our faithful staff is responsible for this; without them, we could not have made the deadlines. They worked long and hard at all hours of the day and night. Tommy Morrell, our student photographer, deserves special credit as he did a lot of overtime work in taking and developing pictures. Mike Willis, not a member of the staff, took quite a few pictures for us also.

To everyone who helped in any way, we say thanks—especially to you, the student body. For without pictures of you or words written about you, there would be no book. Upon finishing our task, we the staff, wish God-speed and good fortune to the graduates of 1963—whom we sought to honor in this edition.
